"The city of Quincy, and particularly the northern half of its territory lying adjacent to Boston, offers many advantages as a place of suburban residence. Situated only six or seven miles out from the business centre of Boston and supplied with frequent and quick train service, it is in a very accessible position. The Quincy & Boston electric railroad now connects all sections of the city, and within the present year it will also furnish an electric connec tion with Boston by the West End system. "It enjoys a great advantage over some other suburban cities in its location.

"The proximity of Quincy to the sea often makes it much cooler in summer than places even but a few miles inland.

If the Cotton Picker is so good a thing why come to Boston to raise money? is a Each warranted sound and kind, not afraid of the cars; a lady can drive them. Must question often asked, and the answer is easy. Because Boston is the best place on earth to raise money for a really meritorious enterprise, as is being proven at 31 Milk St., where Bostonians are daily counting out their money or handing in their checks for stock in the Lone Star Cotton Picker. It is true that they investigate with greater care, weigh facts with greater accuracy and examine closer and scrutinize with greater intelligence than A number of the many friends of Miss | the average, and it is also true that when Addie Houlton tendered her a surprise this has been done none are more ready to party Saturday evening at her residence on put their money in a legitimate enterprise are selling their stock so rapidly. CONCERNING A GREAT SOLDIER.

How General Winfield Scott Learned to Cook.

General Scott was well known in the army as an epicure and an accomplished practical cook, and it was owing largely o his efforts that the standard of rations for the army was raised as high as it is. In telling how he learned to cook he said that when he was a young man he was fortunate enough to contract a friendship with an old French gentleman who had fled from San Domingo at the revolt of the negroes, leaving his estates and settling almost penniless in a little cottage near Petersburg, Va. His dining room and kitchen were separated by a partition only five feet high. Here he entertained Scott, and as he was too poor to hire a waiter or a cook he prepared his own meals, placed them on the table, and then, doffing his apron and donning a dress coat, dispensed his hospitality with the dignity of a king.

ableness of the request. It is, therefore, best to ask as few favors as possible When it must be done, however, the request should be preferred with such modesty that it has no chance of sounding as though it were asked as a matter of right. Then, again, the form of the request should be so framed that the other party will feel at liberty to declin without embarrassment either to him self or the one asking the favor. Such humble conduct will succeed just as often as that breezy manner so frequently employed by those who ask for impossible things as though they were merely

They do this thing better in France, out they also rather overdo it. The proper thing is to raise the hat above he head and bow slightly, moving the hat forward as the head inclines. Or one can also take the hat below the head and bow slightly over it, but the first is the more graceful salutation. Merely to uncover the head without bowing is somewhat military in its method, but it does not appear to convey the same degree of respect. To merely touch the hat is not much better than a simple nod, and to jerk the hat down to the waist in a line parallel with the body is an insolence which deserves a kick whenever a young man's bumptiousness leads him to such monkey shines. It is needless to say that proper salutation should always be smilingly made and that the smile should not come so quickly as to appear to be only a grin, nor depart so soon as to seem to have been summoned by an ef-

Railroad Companies Making Endeavors to Keep Out of Trouble. HARRISBURG, May 2 .- In the suit of the attorney general against the "Reading combine," the Philudelphia and Reading railroad have submitted an answer and demurrer. The answer claims that the easing of the Lehigh Valley lines by the Reading was authorized by the charters of the two companies, and it is not in conflict with the constitution and laws o Pennsylvania. It asserts that all the stock of the Port Reading railroad, which leased the Central railroad of New Jersey. is owned by a construction company, and the lease is authorized by the laws of New Jersey. The company demurs to several of the attorney general's allegations, contending that even if they are true they do not constitute violations of law or public policy. The answer and demurrer of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company is substantially the same as that of the Reading. The Lehigh Valley Coal company and the Philadelphia and Reading Coal company ubmit demurrers denying that there is any just cause of complaint against them The Port Reading company's answer de nies that it is controlled by the Reading. The Lehigh Coal and Navigation company and the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal mpanies deny that they are parties to the coal deal.

Of Inhalation has only begun to be appreciated by the world, and now AERATED OXYCEN furnishes the true and only illustration of the process by which such worderful cures are being wrought. By this perfeetly natural process the respiration tract is reached to its last cell. Intensified Oxygen goes straight to where the disease is located and roots it out. It is a cure that is s rietly logical, because natural. The healing balsam of its vapor bathes the diseased localities with its soothing and reviving influence. The living germs that create the poison are forced to wither and die. After that they are swept out of the system, and a condition of health ensues. Color comes back to the blood and vigor to the nerves. The improvement becomes a transformation. Nature now is free to put in her finest work. She invigorates with a new life what was just now a waste caused by deadly germs. La Crippe, Catarrh, Consumption, Asthma. Hay Fever, Coughs and Colds, and, in fact, all discases of Throat and Lungs, succumb to the marvellous natural potency ca AERATED OXYCEN. It is the new medicine of nature herself.

When murky clouds that pall a summer day.

The conditions and the good work go on rapidly.

In regard to the bill of prices dating January 1, the Quincy Manufacturers association can not agree upon any other date even if they wish to, as the New England Association of which they are members has voted that the date should be January 1, and they are said to be bound to abide friends of the Coddington, Adams and In regard to the bill of prices dating by its decision.

Among the paving cutters there is also trouble as the New England Association has sent out the order "Lock out your paving cutters" and as a resuit there are now over 2000 idle in New England.

This order does not in reality effect Quincy, as the pavers here are not employed by the manufactures but work for themselves. Very few of them are, however, at work.

A COUNTRY MEETING HOUSE.

How One May Be Built Well and for Little Money. Copyright, 1892, by American Press Association.

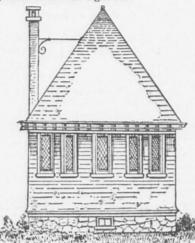

In small villages or country districts where the representatives of the various religious sects are comparatively few in numbers, the expense of building a church for each denomination would be too great. The best way is to unite all forces and build a common meeting house, which may be used for religious services, lectures or

The cuts here shown represent the ground plan and two elevations of an attractive design for a country meeting house, which will comfortably seat about 200 people. It will be noticed that the rostrum or platform end is semicircular in plan. This has several advantages. The greatest of these is that such a contour improves the acoustic properties and the exterior and interior appearance of the building.

The foundation walls are of stone, two ground. The chimney is of hard brick. The building above the foundation walls is framed and securely braced, the roof being supported by open timber trusses which correspond in design to the timber work of the front gable.

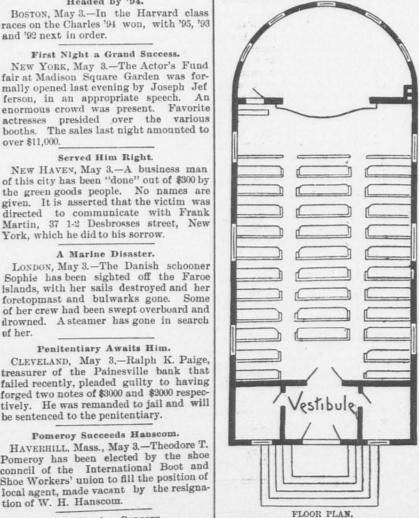

The side walls and roof are sheathed with tongued and grooved stuff, and the whole roof shingled; the floor is of tongued and grooved yellow pine. The side walls and ceilings inside are sheathed with 1/2 x21/4 North Carolina pine, tongued and grooved The platform and reading desk are of yellow pine; the seats are of white pine with ash trimmings, all left natural color of the wood. The front doors are of white pine grained to imitate light oak.

How the Sierra Indians Make Bread. They make it of acorns. The shells and inner skins are carefully peeled off and the meats are ground up into a pulp between smooth stones. Large holes are then dug in the ground to answer for kettles and the pulp is put in. Water is poured over it, after being heated to the boiling point, until the whole mass is about the consistency of cream. A squaw stirs this up carefully with a fir bough, skimming off any specks that may float. The mass is then left standing till the water is all absorbed by the earth. It s then carefully removed, especial pains being taken to separate it from the soil. It is then dried, and when needed for use is mixed with water and baked before the fire in thin cakes.

Of Inhalation has only begun to be appreciated by the world, and now AERATED OXYCEN furnishes the true and only illustration of the process by which such worderful cures are being wrought. By this perfeetly natural process the respiration tract is reached to its last cell. Intensified Oxygen goes straight to where the disease is located and roots it out. It is a cure that is strictly logical, because natural. The healing balsam of its vapor bathes the diseased localities with its soothing and reviving influence. The living germs that poison are forced to with and die. After that they are swept out of the system, and a condition of health ensues. Color comes back to the blood and vigor to the nerves. The improvement becomes a transformation. Nature now is free to put in her finest work. She invigorates with a new life what was just now a waste caused by leadly germs. La Crippe, Catarrh, Consumption, Asthma. Hay Fever, Coughs and Colds, and, in fact, all dises of Throat and Lungs, succumb to marvellous natural potency ERATED OXYCEN. It is e new medicine of nature herself.

LONDON, May 4.- The Society for the on 7. the State Church of England, more popu larly known as the Liberation society began its triennial conference yesterday. Dr. Spence Watson, a prominent Quaker and leading Liberal caucus man, presided. In the course of an argument against a state church, Dr. Watson said: "When those noble men, the Puritan Fathers sought across the Atlantic that religious freedom which was denied them here. they soon became the state church of America and deteriorated. Presently they gan to persecute those of differing reigious belief and to whip the Quakers. [Cries of "No," "Question," "It's true," hame," etc., mingled with cheers and counter-cheers.] The confusion was so great that Dr. Watson could not proceed

Later in the discussion Dr. Brown caused a renewal of the tumult by a pasonate defense of the Puritans, but he ucceeded in getting the sympathy of both factions in the audience before he finished "The Fathers never whipped anybody," he leclared, "and besides, they were all dead at the time the alleged persecution of the Quakers occurred." Second Night of May Festival.

Tuesday, the concluding evening of the May festival at Quincy Point proved a gala night for the large number present. Justice was done the old-fashioned supper and although not one of those who contributed the viands ever attended a cooking school, only words of praise were heard on every side for the excellent repast.

The entertainment was furnished by Wollaston talent, under direction of Mr. W. M. Wight and consisted of orchestral music played as follows:

DR. WEDMORE.

The provincial young man has never ssessed any attractions for me, and it certain that if I had not gone up north stay with Daisy Drysdale, I should ever have known so well such a strikng specimen of the type as Dr. Wedore. He was not a bad fellow, but oh, was so pleased with himself! Your ovincial, indeed, is rarely modest; in e limited circle of country town society young man is pursued with too much ertinacity and ardor to have any doubts his own mind as to his personal desiroility and manifold charms.

Dr. Wedmore was a stoutish young nan of thirty-two, with nondescript feaires and a slow, portentous manner. e had a large and increasing practice the suburb of Northaw, where his edical skill was in constant request nong the spinsters and widows of that mewhat damp and chilly neighborood. So highly esteemed were his serices in the sickroom that these ladies yould send for him at all hours of the lay or night, until the good doctor in self defense took to sending his red aired assistant to some of his more lagrant malades imaginaires.

Daisy Drysdale's husband was a manuacturer in Mudchester, and, like other nanufacturers, he lived as far away from the factory chimneys of that thriving city as possible. So his brand new red brick mansion lay on the other side of the suburb of Northaw, and the society of Northaw supplied nearly all Mrs. Drysdale's intellectual recreation. Poor Daisy! How she missed London and the Upper Bohemia! She had a enius for giving little dinners, but of what use was that, seeing the component stantly entertained. The night after I arrived one of these dinners was given n my honor, and I was sent down to he dining room with Dr. Wedmore.

I shall not easily forget that night. Accustomed to the manifestly insincere gushings of London young men, I was stonished at the naive manner in which this country Æsculapius tried in vain to nide his sudden admiration. It came out in every word and look. It was a case of "love at first sight" on the part of Dr. Wedmore. Before I left the dinner table he had offered to lend me a more, with a sigh, "and I shall not see

At last I resigned myself to my fate and sat down to talk to him. 1 imagined that the state of drains in the suburbs of Northaw would be a safe subject and one unlikely to lead to a declaration of a tender nature, but in this, it appeared, I was mistaken. We got on to the subject of fevers, and to convince me on a certain point the doctor suggested a reference to one of the medical books in his surgery. Once inside the little room, which lay just across the passage, Dr. Wedmore shut the door and advanced toward me with that particular expression which is so intolerable in a young man one doesn't care for.

I put on my most indifferent manner and inspected with much interest the rows of medical books in their glass preciated by the world, and now AERATED OXYCEN furnishes the true and only illustration of the process by which such worderful cures are being wrought. By this perfectly natural process the respiration tract is reached to its last cell. Intensified Oxygen goes straight to where the disease is located and roots it out. It is a cure that is a rictly logical, because natural. The healing balsam of its vapor bathes the diseased localties with its soothing and reviving influence. The living germs that create the poison are forced to wither and die. After that they are swept out of the system, and a condition of health ensues. Color comes back to the blood and vigor to the nerves. The improvement becomes a transformation. Nature now is free to put in her finest work. She invigorates with a new life what was just now a waste caused by deadly germs. La Crippe, Catarrh, Consumption, Asthma. Chief Justice Doe showed no sign of what he was to say. He soon began to read a statement of how the defendant had been heard before, degree of guilt found—not a word about a sentence in November—how his case had just been heard again, and declaring that the court found him guilty of murder in the first degree on evidence both new and old.

Almy was asked if he had anything to say, and rising from his chair, not a muscle of his face moving, in a voice quiet but distinct, he thus addressed the court: "I want to say that I did not mutilate the girl. The first shot was accidental. I hope you will believe me. I hope you will alter my sentence."

Calmly he remained standing a few minutes, gazing at the chief justice, who turned aside to consult with his colleague. Almy got weary of being on his feet and sat down. Sitting he was when the sentence which opens this story was pronounced upon him.

Providence Has Another Election but Must Try It Over Again. PROVIDENCE, May 5 .- The fourth attempt to choose the nine remaining assemblymen from the city of Providence took place yesterday, and two of the lot, Ray G. Burlingame and John E. Potter, both Democrats, were elected. Another attempt to elect the other seven will be made within ten days. All of the Demo-crats had pluralities, but the scattering votes cast for the candidates of the Prohibitory and People's parties defeated their election. Each trial costs the city about $2000, and, under the law, there must be continuous attempts until all have a majority. The people are very tired of the fiasco, and there is a loud demand for plurality elections. This, however, would necessitate a constitutional change.

A CHANCE FOR YOUNGSTERS.

A Sweeping Challenge to Prove the Staying Qualities of Mambrino Stock. BUFFALO, May 5.-C. J. Hamlin, the well-known horseman, has issued the following challenge: I will match two 2-year-olds, three 3-yearolds, one 4-year-old and one 5-year-old, the latter eligible to the 2:21 class, against any orse in the world of the same age for $500 a side, the contest to take place over the Buffalo track during the grand circuit meeting in this city during the first week in August. The 5-year old competitor must be eligible to the 2:21 class. First come, first served. The association will also add $500 to the purse in each case, $300 to the winner and $200 to the loser, a sufficient amount to cover expenses. Each race, excepting the 3-year-old, which shall be best two in three, must be mile heats, best three in five, and consist of two contestants in each event. I will also match a horse eligible to the 2:18 class against any horse eligible to the 2:18 class for $500 a side, for a two-mile race at the same meeting, best two in three. The association will also add $500 Mr. Hamlin deposited a forfeit of $250 as a guarantee of good faith in every race, and stipulates that the challenge is open until May 16. The acceptors will be required to make a similar deposit of forfeit, the remaining $250 to be deposited on July 18, when the horses must be raced.

Deaths from Lamps and Stoves. A popular Broadway club man, who wears the uniform of the metropolitan police, says he has been making an estimate of the matter and that an average of two persons are burned alive every week in New York; that is, they are burned dead-killed by fire. While an occasional holocaust startles the community, the real loss of human life by fire comes from the lamps and gas stoves, and is the result of carelessness. Some official figures on this subject would serve as a timely warning.—New York Herald.

Being Done Just Now on the Political Battlefield-Blaine's Friends Haven't Abandoned the Scheme for His Nom ination-Tom Platt on Harrison.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—There has been for several days marked activity on the part of the opponents of the president, and conference is understood to have been arranged which is shortly to come BREWER'S CORNER-Miss Bartlett's, off. It has not been fully decided where it is to be held, but it will probably be in Washington, it being the most central. At this conference will figure many prominent Republican leaders, among them Platt of New York, Clarkson, chairman of the national Republican committee,

As to Ex-Speaker Reed, he is probably the only one of the active opponents of the president who stands well with heavy portieres. The parlor is sepabefore the people. Reed, however, has a grievance against the president growing out of the distribution of patronage, which, while many believe it to be a just grievance, does not add much strength to his opposition. The fact that all of these men are thorough politicians, and comprise some of the best organizers in the Republican party, causes some Republicans to believe that they may create such disaffection as to turn the tide against the presi-

But this is hardly likely. It is evident from their talk that they have not abandoned their scheme to nominate Blaine. "Not one delegate from the state of New York has been instructed," said Mr. Platt, "and any statement to the contrary is without foundation." In reply to a question as to whether any of the delegates would vote for Harrison, Mr. Platt, after some reflection, replied with a smile: "Colonel Elliott F. Shepard is a delegate, I believe." Mr. Platt further said that Colonel Shepard's paper was not authorized to speak for the Republican party of the state nor for the New York delegation to Minneapolis. # NORFOLK DOWNS.

Lots at Norfolk Downs are priced in sections or large blocks. There is the 15c. section, 12 1-2c. section, 10c. section, 9, 8, 7, 6 and 5 - and the Beach section, embracing the lots near the shore.

Today we would call your attention to the latter block. It is not large, and as it contains about the only good shore lots near Boston, it is going rapidly.

We would respectfully ask all who are thinking of buying strictly shore property to call in at their earliest opportunity, as the probabilities are we shall soon be obliged to take that part of the property off sale for the present.

The lots are really selling for one-half what they are worth - you will say so when you see them - and the restrictions are such in this section as to ensure an excellent character of houses.

You will also have credited on your purchase that proportion of $10,000 which the amount of your purchase bears to the amount sold within 60 days. This is according to the terms of our $10,000 offer.

WORCESTER, Mass., May 6.—The following is Department Commander Churchill's general order for Memorial Day.

(i) The "newness of life" in the kingdom of flowers, which is everywhere manifest in a more prominent degree than has been the case for several years so early in the season, suggests that there will be no dearth of material wherewith to perform an exceedingly pleasant duty—no less solemn than it is patriotic—to ourselves as comrades of the Grand Army, and to the memory of those whose spirits await ours on the other side of the river.

Article 14, chapter 5, rules and regulations, provides that the thirtieth day of May shall be observed as Memorial Day. This year that event will take place on the fifth Monday in the month, and each post in the department will, in a manner best suited to its surroundings, decorate the graves of our country's defendence.

June, 1878, all national flags will be at halfmast on Memorial Day.

(3). The custom of posts attending divine worship on the Sunday preceding Memorial Day is now regarded as a matter of course.

(4). While it is true that the spirit of loyalty was a birthright to a large majority of the men who fought for the preservation of our national integrity and unity, it is also true that there are many children in attendance at our schools whose parents have come to these shores since the close of the civil war.

It is known in Germany, in the most hotly contested of the season. A muff by Browning in the eighth lost the game for Louisville. It was a pitchcelebration. As regards the French ex pression, it has more meanings than one. Bescherelle states that it is applied to the mackerel because that fish is abundant in April. In any case, "to give an April fish to any one" and "to make one an Apri fish" signify to cause one on the first of the month to believe a false report, to engag in some futile task, etc., in order to find ar occasion for ridicule. Some say the word "poisson" is a corruption of "passion" and relates to the conduct of those who about the same time of year sent Christ from one tribunal to another and made him the object of mockery and derision. This is doubtful, and the real derivation remains to be decided.

Mr. Spurgeon's Pets.

Mr. Spurgeon's love for his domestic pets was one of his most prominent characteristics. He once had a famous cat, and "Dick's" affection for his master often made him a welcome visitor to the study. His dog "Punch" was a beauty of the genu ine pug variety, who reveled in a romp, and seemed proud of the patronage his master lavished upon him. In the farm stock in the miniature homestead Mr.

Spurgeon had a genuine pride.

Conservatism and Radicalism. Dr. Lyman Abbott, while talking to some Harvard divinity students, offered this dis-tinction between Conservatism and Radicalism: "The Radical says, Break the shell and let the contents out.' Easter Lilies.

The attention the florist pays nowadays to the Easter lilies is a marked one; for not so many years ago the demand for the beautifully simple white flower was exceedingly small.

They found the readiest sale with churches then, and it was rare indeed to find a private house decorated with these flowers. Even the churches did not require so many as to make the pro-duction of the Easter lily more than a from other quarries during the trouble at mere incident in the work of a florist's gardener. Than an Aggressive Conflict with Dominating Political Influences-Democratic Senators Said to Be Fomenting Internal Strife.

WASHINGTON, May 6 .- Colonel Watterson's latest pronunciamento, in which he states that the nomination of either Cleveland or Hill is certain defeat, has stirred up a most acrimonious feeling in both political camps. He has been here for some days and has very fully canvassed the sentiment of the senate and house, and is very indignant over the cowardice of the leaders in being secretly against and publicly in favor of both candidates, according to their preference. Among these very leaders, he says, are at least half a dozen Democratic senators who will raise their standards in hopes that by some chance lightning may strike in their locality, and therefore are personally interested in fomenting these dissen-

JOY IN GOD'S HOUSE.

Text of the Lesson, Ps. lxxxiv, 1-12-Memory Verses, 9-12-Golden Text, Ps. Ixxxiv, 4 - Commentary by the Rev. D. M.

O Lord of Hosts." See David's love for God's dwelling place, the tabernacle in which He was pleased to dwell among the children of Israel The instruction to Moses was, "Let them make me a sanctu ary, that I may dwell among them" (Ex. xxv, 8, 22). Amiable is the same as be loved or well beloved, and is so translated in Deut. xxxiii, 12; Isa. v, 1. The title "Lord of Hosts" is first found in I Sam. i, 3, and is first heard from the lips of Han nah in the same chapter (verse 11) in a time of great distress. It is a name full of comfort to all who are helpless and alone. See it four times in the psalm.

2. "My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth, for the courts of the Lord; my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God." It was not the house that he thought so much of, but the living God who there dwelt among His people Israel. The reason why he so earnestly desired this—one thing —was that he might behold the beauty of Jehovah (Ps. xxvii, 4). He had a holy appetite for God Himself.

3. "Yea, the sparrow hath found an house, and the swallow a nest for herself, where she may lay her young, even thine altars, O Lord of Hosts, my King and my God." There were two altars, one for sacrifice and one for incense, signifying Christ's work of atonement whereby we are saved, and His work of intercession whereby we are kept. He envies the birds, worthless and restless, who feed and live about the tabernacle. Or possibly he speaks of the neglect of these altars upon which the birds now make their nests, and his soul sighs because of such sin of Israel.

4. "Blessed are they that dwell in thy house. They will be still praising Thee. Selah." So in Ps. lxv, 4, he speaks of the blessedness of dwelling in God's house and being satisfied with His goodness. Only those who are the redeemed of the Lord, and can truly say as in the previous terse, "My King and my God," know any-thing of such blessedness, and only such can truly praise God. Selah is found seventy-three times in the Psalms and three times in Hab. iii, and signifies a pause or rest and is suggestive of meditation. Am I among these blessed? 5. "Blessed is the man whose strength is in Thee, in whose heart are the high ways" (R. V.). Before we can have much joy in the Lord we must learn that He alone is our salvation and our strength and our song (Ex. xv, 2; Ps. cxviii, 14; Isa. xii, 2), and must learn to say, "My soul wait the bidge sank together in one mass of crushed timbers, torn and twisted iron Then shall we find in heart and life the highway of holiness or wholeness to God

All true Christians journeying through this world to the New Jerusalem should bring joy and gladness as they journey. because they are children of God and know that they shall every one be at the mar-riage of the lamb (John x, 27, 28; Phil. i,

8. "O Lord God of hosts, hear my prayer; give ear, O God of Jacob. Selah." If we cannot gather with the saints in their assemblies we can always pray; and God Himself will be our sanctuary even in the midst of our enemies (Ezek. xi, 16). Every name of God is full of significance. Jehovah is our Righteousness (Jer. xxiii. 6. Ps. xi, 7). Elohim is our Faithful Creator (I Pet. iv, 19). Lord God of Hosts reminds us of all the hosts of heaven who rejoice to do His bidding on behalf of His redeemed (Heb. i, 14). While God of Jacob is suggestive of the fullness of His mercy they may be. Pause and meditate on this.

9. "Behold, O God, our shield and look upon the face of thine anointed." Shortly before 4 o'clock, after a confer-nce with Attorney General Miller and ganizing the committees then proceeded. Might come to him from the kings from whose hands he had rescued Lot, Jehovah said to him, "I am thy shield" (Gen. xv, 1). He is a wall of fire around about all who trust in him (Zech. ii, 5). See also verse 11 of our lesson and Ps. xxxiv, 7. Israel is His anointed (Ps. cv, 15), but Israel's Mes siah is the true Anointed (Ps. ii, 2, I Sam. ii, 10, 35) for whose sake God grants deliverance to His people. He can only look upon us with approval for His sake. 10. "For a day in Thy courts is better than a thousand. I had rather be a door keeper in the house of my God than to dwell in the tents of wickedness." Some one has said that God's worst is better than passes away, but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever (I John ii, 17). Better far, like Moses, to suffer affliction with the people of God than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season (Heb. xi, 25)

11. "For the Lord God is a sun and shield. The Lord will give grace and glory. No good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly." He is our Sun, source of all light and life. Soon He shall arise as the Sun of Righteousness for all the world, and then shall the Right eous shine forth as the Sun (Mal. iv, 2 Glory which He has given unto us (John xvii, 22) we know that He is with us full of grace and truth and will supply all our need (John i, 14; Math. xxviii, 20. Rom viii, 32; Phil. iv, 19, Ps. xxxiv, 10).

12. "O Lord of Hosts, blessed is the man that trusteth in Thee." He is the source of all good, the sum of all happiness, the defense from all evil, who then can esti that its connection with the United States body be severed, making the association in the second states body be severed, making the association in the second states are second second stat only enjoy Him as we walk uprightly; but walking with Him and staid on Him A Fithery Modus Vivendi.

Of Inhalation has only begun to be appreciated by the world, and now AERATED OXYCEN fornishes the true and only illustration of the process by which such worderful cures are being wrought. By this perfectly natural process the respiration tract is reached to its last cell. Intensified Oxygen goes straight to where the disease is located and roots it out. It is a cure that is s rictly logical, because natural. The healing balsam of its vapor bathes the diseased localities with its soothing and reviving influence. The living germs that create the poison are forced to wither and die. After that they are swept out of the system, and a condition of health ensues. Color comes back to the blood and vigor to the nerves. The improvement becomes a transformation, Nature now is free to put in her finest work. She invigorates with a new life what was just now a waste caused by deadly germs. La Grippe, Catarrh, Consumption, Asthma. Hay Fever, Coughs and Colds, and, in fact, all die eases of Throat and Lungs, succurb to he marvellous natural potency ca AERATED OXYCEN. It is he new medicine of nature herself.

By the Action of Congress in Regard to Registering Ocean Steamships.

LONDON, May 7 .- The granting of American registry to the steamsn:ps City of New York and City of Paris has aroused an unexpected storm of opposition here. At first the action of congress was regarded strike. as voluntary and was discussed as a harmlees piece of presumption on the part of United States.

The explanation of the significance of the bill by Mr. Ismay of the White Star line to Sir Micheal Hicks-Beach opened British eyes to the situation. An Exciting Scene, in Which the Clergyman is Called a Criminal.

NEW YORK, May 7 .- When the trial of Hattie Adams, for keeping a disorderly house, was resumed, counsel for defense opened his case by requesting Judge Fitz-gerald to acquit the prisoner, which the Plain. judge promptly refused to do. In the opinion of the disreputable woman's counsel, Dr. Parkhurst's holy calling should have confined him to the pulpit synods and presbyteries.

With great vehemence the lawyer then arraigned Parkhurst as being, according to the laws of God, morals, decency and the laws of the state, a criminal. McIntyre, the assistant district attorney, promptly objected to such epithets being bestowed on Dr. Parkhurst.

"I agree with you," at once remarked Judge Fitzgerald. "The proper office of the opening address to a jury is to state the evidence that will be presented. The defendant is on trial, and not Dr. Parkhurst. I have tried to confine the counsel for the defense to competent and material evidence, and to do so now until the end." Counsel squirmed and argued under the judge's rebuke, and insisted that he meant to prove that Dr. Parkhurst was a "criminal," and therefore not to be be-

It was a minute or two past 8 o'clock when John Heffernan started down the private way near the building leading to his home. As he passed along his attention was attracted by a bright light in the basement of the building, and realizing the seriousness, he rushed to Box 34 and gave he alarm.

The department quickly responded and in less than five minutes from the time of the first blow of the alarm a stream was being thrown into the basement which at this time was all ablaze.

The room is not a large one but was filled with leather chips, some of which were in bags, but the greater part were loose, and the dense smoke from these not only completely filled the entire building but made it almost impossible for the firemen to remain in the room. They stuck to it however, and soon had the fire under control although it was sometime before

CONDITION OF TRADE.

Rain Has Caused Depression in the West. Business in General "Picking Up." NEW YORK, May 7 .- R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: Business has been much retarded throughout most of the western states by unasual and continued rains. The movement of products is thus delayed, though only temporarily; collections are retarded; seeding in many quarters is interrupted, though, on the whole, fairly advanced for the season, and distribution of goods is checked. A somewhat better tone appears at the south and business at the east is fairly active for the season, although in some lines dull and depressed. Money is everywhere abundant, in part because the demand is smaller than usual, but this is in a measure due to the unusual conservatism of the trade, buyers making many small purchases instead of larger purchases, and waiting more carefully for actual distri-

A FOURTEEN INNINGS FIGHT

When the Game Was Called Without Cleveland Whitewashes Baltimore. Chicago, St. Louis and Philadelphia the Other Winners.

CINCINNATI, May 7.-One of the most exciting games ever played by League teams was played here this afternoon. The Boston champions and Comiskey's Cincinnati boys played fourteen innings without a run. Then the game was called as the men took their places for the fifteenth inning. Six times during the game for Boston, and four for Cincinnati, would a base hit have decided the contest.

It was a pitcher's battle between Clark-EMIN PASHA son and Chamberlain, the latter having, if anything, the best of it, as he was hit but

Housekeepers are Warned

Against the impositions of a company of females, who, under the lead of a male agent, are infesting different sections of the country, performing a trick which they pretend is a test of baking powders.

It having been intimated that these persons are the paid agents of the Royal Baking Powder Company, this is to advise all concerned that this Company has no relation whatever to them, that their so-called test is a sham, and that the females are instructed and employed to perform these tricks, and make false statements in all kitchens to which they can gain access, by concerns who are trying to palm off upon housekeepers an inferior brand of baking powder through the operation of fallacious and deceptive methods.

The Royal Baking Powder Company in no case employs such agents, and whenever the name of this Company is used to gain entrance to houses, the applicant, no matter how respectable in appearance, should be regarded and treated as an imposter.

preciated by the world, and now AERATED OXYCEN furnishes the true and only illustration of the process by which such worderful cures are being wrought. By this perfeetly natural process the respiration sified Oxygen goes straight to where the disease is located and roots it out. It is a cure that is s rictly logical, because natural. The healing balsam of its vapor bathes the diseased localities with its soothing and reviving influence. The living germs that create the poison are forced to wither and die. After that they are swept out of the system, and a condition of health ensues. Color comes back to the blood and vigor to the nerves. The improvement becomes a transformation. Nature now is free to put in her finest work. She invigorates with a new life what was just now a waste caused by deadly germs. La Crippe, Catarrh, Consumption, Asthma. May Fever, Coughs and Colds, and, in fact, all disaces of Throat and Lungs, succurb to he marvellous natural potency en AERATED OXYCEN. It is he new medicine of nature herself.

HARTFORD, May 9.—St. Joseph's cathedral was dedicated yesterday will all the pomp, circumstances, power and resources of the Roman Catholic church. The services began at 6 o'clock in the morning with the consecration of the cathedral proper and the main altar by Bishop Mc-Mahon, assisted by nineteen priests. Then bishops, bishops, monseignors, heads of ance of the Sabbath. seminaries, colleges, religious orders, and 300 or more priests, clad in their pontificial robes, marched from the bishop's residence into the cathedral by the main in this city celebrated its 150th annientrance. The sermon was preached by versary. A social meeting was held in the Archbishop Hennessey of Dubuque, Ia. An elaborate musical program was rendered by a quartet from New York, and a preached anniversary sermons in which he New York gave an organ recital which up to the present commodious edifice and lasted about an hour. Large audiences thronged the cathedral all day.

In the evening the cathedral was brilliantly illuminated for the pontifical vesper service. The celebrant was Archishop Corrigan of New York, assisted by ice closed the consecration ceremonies, but many in the large crowd lingered to gaze upon the brilliant effects of the dazzling magnificent and imposing structures of the kind in this country. It was projected more than twenty years ago and has been fifteen years in building. It was projected by the late Bishop McFarland, who died about 1874. There are now over 200,000 Roman Catholics in the state of th interior of the cathedral, as lighted up. There are now over 200,000 Roman Catholies in the state, most of whom have contributed in some way to the erection of the cathedral. The building cost about $500,000 and is entirely free from debt. It is of the early pointed gothic style of architecture, and is 264 feet long sept, and 95 feet wide in the nave. Capture of Godfrey, Who Robbed the Town Teasurer of Limington, Me. PORTLAND, Me., May 9 .- The Press today publishes a long special of more than local interest. It says: Saturday evening Deputy Sheriff Plummer, assisted by Detective Newbegin of Boston, completed one of the most interesting and brilliant pieces of detective work done in this part of the country for a long time. They arrested Benjamin Clark Godfrey of Limington, charged with robbing town treasu-rer Strout of Limington, who on the evening of Dec. 2 last was assaulted at the door of his own barn, knocked senseless with a club and robbed of his pocketbook, containing over $250 in cash and checks and other valuable papers.

Godfrey is a desperate fellow, and although only 27 years old has already killed his man and "done time" in the state prison at Concord, N. H. It is his boast that he will shoot any man who draws a weapon on him, and he is very proud of his "quickness at the trigger." But Saturday night he was entirely unprepared, and Deputy Sheriff Plummer and Officer Stevens of the Portland police, who had been called to assist, had him by the arms and handcuffed before he really pprehended what was going on.

He was taken to the jail and is now lodged there. If convicted of the assault apon Strout, his sentence might be for Houses, Barns and Live Stock Carried Away by Resistless Torrents-Reports of Meavy Damage in Missouri, Illinois, Kansas and Other States.

KANSAS CITY, May 9.-Accounts are coming from all over western Missouri and eastern Kansas of overflowed streams. In some localities towns have been flooded and some damage is reported to dwellings. The floods came so suddenly in other districts that the farmers had no time to prepare for it and much of their stock has been drowned and washed away. Growing crops have been badly damaged and thousands of fields must be replanted. In nine rooms, five down stairs and four Saline county all the streams are reported out of their banks and the whole country has been turned into a lake. Some houses have been washed away and much stock has been lost.

Along the Platte river and the One Hundred and Two river, the whole country has been inundated, and honses and barns have been destroyed. In Livingstone, Grundy and Mercer counties, the Grand river and its forks have flooded the whole country, and the district from Chilicothe to the Iowa line is one sea of water. All the crops have been washed out for miles throughout the Grand river valley and much stock has been lost. All the rail-roads in the district have been more or less damaged. Traffic is greatly delayed ent, as a study of the plans will reveal.

The Santa Fe has suffered several washouts, and trains are badly delayed. A small cyclone accompanied the rain north of Guthrie, and did considerable damage. Three houses were carried some distance by the cyclone and badly damaged. Many barns and other buildings were destroyed. There was no loss of life as far as known. All trains from every direction, with the exception of the Rock Island and Union Pacific, from the west, are late in arriving in this city. All are delayed by unsafe bridges, landslides or washouts. The rain continues with unabated steadiness. OUTLOOK IS SERIOUS.

Rising Waters in Illinois Threaten an Immense Amount of Damage. PEORIA, Ills., May 9.—Thousands of people have visited the inundated districts surrounding this city. The river is still a raging torrent, with a roar that can be heard for a long distance. It now registers 1 feet 7 inches, a rise of 7 inches in twenty-four hours. It is believed the river will not rise much more, but the strong wind which prevails is dashing the water so furiously against the bank that many bridges are likely to be washed out. The railroad companies have large forces at work guarding against this. The dam at Henry threatens to go out, and should is do so, the devastation along the river will be appalling. In the Lamarsh dispieces by the drift wood, and by the time the water goes out nothing will he left but debris. The residents have lost every-thing they had. Several warehouses here are surrounded by water and threaten every minute to be carried away.

INDIANA'S FLOOD.

No Human Lives Were Lost, but the Damage to Property is Enormous. FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 9.-Reports of extensive devastation by the waters of the St. Joseph, St. Mary and Maumee rivers farms on the lowlands were overflowed, and a great deal of timber that was cut for the mills went down the streams. Louis Isaby, a farmer living on the banks of the Maumee, four miles below Fort Wayne, lost all his horses, cows, hogs and sheep in the flood, besides several acres of cordwood. No human lives were lost, as the rise was gradual, giving all a chance to escape. While the river is still high above its banks, the waters are receding and if the weather remains fair the danger is over. The families who moved out of their houses on the lowlands of Fort Wayne cannot be induced to move back.

A May Snowstorm. RUSHVILLE, Neb., May 9.-Snow has fallen during the past thirty-eight hours to a depth of sixteen inches. It will be severe on cattle in the sand hills, and will retard farm work. About three-fourths of the small grain is in, and the first sown is up and looks fine.

"Dynermite," said Ann, smiling and stretching the wrinkles of her face transversely, thus giving it a grotesque expression. The allusion to the trunk was a gentle hint that Mrs. Whitcumb de sired Ann to help her convey the shing black box up to her room. Ann had sworn off against carrying trunks or placking visitors' boots. The latter offensive articles when put outside the chamber door were allowed to remain there indefinitely unnoticed by the kitchen divinity. But Mrs. Whitcumb's flatteries had produced a certain softening about the edges, and now as she took the cakes out of the oven she said, not angraciously: "I'll help you up with your trunk, Mis' Whitcumb, not as I do it as a general thing. I let folks get in a man when there's heavy liftin; but if I remember right, your's ain't much more'n a bunnit box." Miss Mayhew, who was listening in the sitting room, with the white baby blanket she was knitting suspended in her hand, soon heard the bumping of the trunk on its way up to the chamber. "I always did like this room," said Sister Martha, panting a little from the tug up the stairs. "Them three windows are real pleasant and sightly, and there is a good press to hang your dress I can look right down on Mis' Wood's front door and see the Wood girls' beaux when they come to call. Mrs. Whitcumb soon followed, and after descending the shallow, easy steps, opened discreetly the parlor door on the other side of the prim, cold hall from where Miss Mayhew sat at her window. There was but a dim light in the large room, for the shutters were closed, the shades drawn and only a little ray here and there filtered through the slats. The room was spacious and stiff with old fashioned gentility. There was a high wooden chimney piece with girandoles and clumsy vases, and over it hung a lugubrious engraving called "Washington's Death Bed." The carpet was of an antique pattern known as Venetian stripe, now worn to dinginess. The furniture was of slippery haircloth, but cased in heavy lumbering frames. An astral lamp stood on the center table in a bead mat, and there was a little tray with a few yellow cards and one or two of Miss Mayhew's girlish valentines. There was also a highly embellished "keepsake" of the year 1850, and the family Bible heavily gilt and looking new and as if never opened.- It was spotlessly clean, for Ann swept and dusted the room every fortnight, pinning back the lace curtains and covering all the furniture.

Mrs. Whitcumb gazed around with the feeling natural to her economical soul that much good material was going to waste. Behind the parlor was an ample dining room furnished in the same tasteless style. She remembered the Thanksgivings and merrymakings of mother Mayhew's time, but after a moment's consideration she stepped to the kitchen door and said to Ann:

"If folks call to see me I wish you would show them into the parlor."

MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE. secrecy of the Ballot-Savings Banks and Trust Companies.

Boston, May 10.-In the house the sureme court sent in its answer to the question of the house on the constitutionality of municipal coal yards. Chief Justice Field and Justices Allen, Knowlton, Morton and Lathrop answer that the yards are unconstitutional. Justice Holmes says they are constitutional. Justice Barbour says they are constitu tional if they are a public necessity; but if they are instituted for the sake of an experiment they are unconstitutional.

The committee on election laws reported a bill to cover such cases as that of Councilman Norris in Boston last fall, by se-curing greater secrecy of the ballot when a voter is challenged. It says that no election officer or one who recounts votes shall make any statement or give any informa-tion in regard to a ballot deposited by a challenged voter, except as required by law. No other person than such officer shall give any information regarding a challenged vote. Violation of the law is punishable by a fine of from $20 to $200 or a year's imprisonment, or both.

The first matter on the calendar was the motion to reconsider the rejection of the trust company bill. Mr. McCall moved to table that and the following matters in order to reach the assessment endowment bill, but the motion failed. The reconsidbill, but the motion failed. The reconsideration was then debated and carried by 100 to 55. Mr. Tucker then moved to restore the bill to its original form by limiting its application to companies organized hereafter. The bill was finally sent to a third reading.

Boston, May 10.—The Herald says: The Herald has discovered a piece of news in the Trefethen murder case which may prove of the greatest importance. It has found a man who talked with Tena Davis, on Sullivan square, just before her disappearance—he is quite positive it was on the very night she was drowned in the waters of the Mystic.

Any Young Man but Trefethen around the store. One day I came in when he was there, and I noticed that Tena had a large amethyst ring on her finger. After he had gone out I asked: "Are you going to be married, Tena?' indicating the ring.

"'I guess so,' she answered. This was a year ago last summer. Great consequences may turn on the date Tena's address on the card was trans-ferred to Mr. Doyle's notebook. The state has proved that she went to Sullivan square to meet Trefethen on Dec. 22, and if Mr. Doyle saw her there on that night, the state is strongly corroborated. If, on the other hand, Mr. Doyle should be able to prove that he saw her on Sullivan square, Dec. 23, at 7:45 o'clock, as he fixes the hour, some interesting possibilities are opened on the case.

SENT TO STATE PRISON.

Actor Merry Gets Five Years and James Courtney is Billed for Twenty-Five. Boston, May 10.—George G. Merry, the variety actor, who tried to kill Ethel Beaumont on Harrison avenue, recently, came up for sentence yesterday afternoon. He had but little to say, merely asking for clemency. Judge Bond imposed a sentence of five years in state prison. Merry was associated with Miss Beaumont in the illusion business, and became jealous of a stage hand at one of the local dime museums. Going home one night, he told Miss Beaumont he was going to amit suicide because he thought she emy. did not love him as she did the new acquaintance. Then he pointed a revolver at her and fired, the ball taking effect in her back.

Merry yesterday rehearsed the shooting, and frequently appealed to his victim to prove that he was telling the truth. During his recital he did not once take his eyes off the young woman. He is as much

President Harrison Explains.

WASHINGTON, May 10 .- At the regular weekly conference of Methodist preachers, Rev. Dr. S. L. Baldwin read a letter from President Harrison, in answer to a protest he had sent the president in regard to the Chinese exclusion bill. The president explained that the bill he signed was a compromise measure between the house and senate bills, and was as lenient as it could be made. The president said he felt the certificate demanded would be a benefit to the Chinese and would assist them in establishing their rights in this country.

We hold that from February to March a better knowledge of the prospects for the H. The Demand for Monuments s governed by the death rate of American eitizens, and not by architects, builders or manufacturers, so that the argument advanced is not a logical one. The real object, the manufacturers conider, is that in December of each year the workmen will be at their mercy, and they can do as they please; but when manufacturers show their honor in thus violating agreements already made, is it reasonable to suppose that workmen will have any compunctions of conscience against violating an agreement in August forced on them in December, by such violation of agreement? For of what use will it be to enter into agreements with parties whose nonor is so low?

If desert sands my eager feet would journey, Nor weary till I kissed the earth where thou shouldst stand; If it were sea, I'd cross the waters over,

Nor fear the tempest till I reached thy land: If it were death, I would not live without thee; The weary hours could never solace know, But gladly from the empty world about me, Through death's dark way to seek thee, love,

But distance wider than two worlds compute,

Hath its equator in thy silent heart. -Louisville Courier-Journal.

Tommy's Wild Run for Life. Tommy L. Dyer, a fourteen-year-old boy, of Hulburt, Mich., had an exciting adventure on Wednesday in which he narrowly escaped being devoured by a couple of big gray wolves.

Near the town is a lake of considera ble extent. G. W. Dyer, father of the Copyright, 1832, by American Press Associa boy, is in charge of Hulburt's lumbering operations there. At the request of his son he caused a half mile track to be cleared on the lake by a snow plow so his boy and others could enjoy skating. Wednesday afternoon Tommy was out alone at the end of the track farthest from camp. As it began to grow dark the boy was about to start for home when he was startled by the howl of a wolf not far off, followed instantly by another. At the same time two large Coram's Periodical Store, Copeland Street, and ferocious timber wolves made their appearance a short distance away.

The boy, aware that his life was in danger, at once sought safety in flight. The ugly brutes, half famished during the winter and intent on having a feast, immediately started in pursuit. For a time he distanced his pursuers, but he soon began to lose his strength, and the hungry animals were soon close behind with their eyes gleaming like coals of fire and their red tongues hanging out between cruel, glistening teeth.

The lad continued his exertions, how ever, calling loudly for help. At last, eling the hot breath of the panting rutes, he was about to give up in de pair, when George Colvin and Aleck Stewart, two brawny wo men who were working near, heard he frightened cries of the boy and the fierc howls of the wolves and started to the rescue. Of Inhalation has only begun to be appreciated by the world, and now AERATED OXYCEN furnishes the true and only illustration of the process by which such worderful cures are being wrought. By this perfectly natural process the res tract is reached to its last cell. Intensified Oxygen goes straight to where the disease is located and roots it out. It is a cure that is s rictly logical, because natural. The healing balsam of its vapor bathes the diseased localities with its soothing and reviving influence. The living germs that create the poison are forced to wither and die. After that they are swept out of the system, and a condition of health ensues. Color comes back to the blood and vigor to the nerves. The improvement becomes a transformation. Nature now is free to put in her finest work. She invigorates with a new life what was just now a waste caused by deadly germs. La Crippe, Catarrh, Consumption, Asthma. Hay Fever, Coughs and Colds, and, in fact, all dieases of Throat and Lungs, succumb to marvellous natural potency of AERATED OXYCEN. It is the new medicine of nature herself. FREE TRIAL And for sale at 8 Herald Building,

DO YOU APPRECIATE that we are to turn over to first buyers practically the entire profits of the first 60 days' sales?

DO YOU APPRECIATE that if you buy NOW you come in for a pro rata share of that profit?

That's what our $10,000 offer means—such proportion of $10,000 as your purchase bears to the total sales during this period is to be rebated to you, and the time is fast slipping away-why don't you

This would be no inducement at all to buy at a poor, good-fornothing place-of course not. But at a first-class A Number I suburb, like Norfolk Downs-beautiful in itself, with a railway station of its own, electric road and lights, and every conceivable improvement-in fact, a perfect place for an all-the-year-round home-isn't it something of an inducement?

Why don't you DO something about it?-YOU, Reader.

-NOTICE .-

Lots on the IOc. block at the left of Billings Road are probably the best value of any on the property, and they are naturally going fastest. Like the block which we advertised last week, they will soon be gone. They contain about 5000 feet, are sold on four years' time, and, without question, are the best lots for the price in the vicinity of Boston. With our improvements, every one of them is worth 20c. a foot, and we can sell for a short time at half that sum simply because we bought when the property was 3-4 of a mile from a railroad

N. B. In the block east of Billings Road and south of Beach Street there remain only 16 or 18 lots, and these will be sold in the future at 15c.

There was no policeman near, as usual. I saw the would-be assassin, with revolver in hand, make toward the general. I got between the general and the assassin's nose and threw his head back. I then dropped my left hand, drew it back, and plunged my fist with full force on his windpipe, as hard as I could drive, knocking him out and capturing his revolver, which I now have in my possession. IT is to be hoped that the defeat of the street sprinkling order in the Council does the cost, or for the city to make a larger appropriation. The first way seems the best. To water streets by city assessments is something new for Quincy, and in the nature of an experiment, and it would be well to try it on a short distance and determine the actual cost, and how the people like to pay assessments. Other streets can be watered as heretofore by subscription.

The present sprinkling is being done wholly by the city, but Commissioner Ewell informs us that it must soon be discontinued, as $6 a day is too much of a drain on the limited appropriation for general repairs of highways.

WE AGREE with the Councilman from Ward Six, that the order authorizing the Mayor to petition the Legislature for additional rights in connection with the taking of the water works, should not have provoked the opposition that it did. The city must have authority to issue bonds to such an amount as may be r quired to pay the award, and also to pay for extensive improvements and extensions, which everyone admits must be made in the next few years. The limit named is not solely for the purchase, and gives no indication as to what the city expects to pay, in marked contrast to the amendment offered by the Councilman from Ward Two, who would place the imit at $550,000, which he thought would be sufficient to pay the award, and that future Councils could get authority to issue bonds for improvements and extensions Just the objection which the Councilman from Ward Two made the most important, Is one of the prettiest places on earth. therbye he made doubly so by his amend ciated by the world, and now AERATED OXYCEN furnishes the true and only illustration of the process by which such worderful cures are being wrought. By this perfeetly natural process the respiration tract is reached to its last cell. Intensified Oxygen goes straight to where the disease is located and roots it out. It is a cure that is s rictly logical, because natural. The healing balsam of its vapor bathes the diseased localities with its soothing and reviving influence. The living germs that create the poison are forced to wither and die. After that they are swept out of the system, and a condition of health ensues. Color comes back to the blood and vigor to the nerves. The improvement becomes a transformation. Nature now is free to put in her finest work. She invigorates with a new life what was just now a waste caused by deadly germs. La Crippe, Catarrh, Consumption, Asthma. Hay Fever, Coughs and Colds, and, in fact, all di cases of Throat and Lungs, succurb t marvellous natural potency ca AERATED OXYCEN. It is he new medicine of nature herself.

THE PASSION PLAY.

A Large Audience Attend the Lecture by Rev. J. J. Lewis.

The Passion Play of Oberammergau, the subject of an illustrated lecture by Rev. J. J. Lewis, having met with such a grand success recently at the Congregational church, was repeated at the First church, Wednesday evening, with even greater success. Seldom does the old church contain such a large audience. Rev. D. M. Wilson introduced the lecturer.

Rev. Mr. Lewis is a fine speaker, and by the aid of 100 or more excellent views, gave an interesting description of the great play which is given at Oberammergau every ten years. He started at Munich and illustrated the route of the traveller to the pretty village, inhabited in 1890, by 1400 people. About 650 of these take part in the drama. Two years previous to the performance the principal characters are chosen, as the individuals personating Christ and others must allow their hair to grow for that length of time, and prepare for their parts. Frequent rehearsals are held. It is remarkable from the views shown how well all the parts are repre- Fairbanks. sented in feature and act. The entire play is divided into parts and each opens with a tableau during which a chorus sing. The Farewell of Jesus and Mary, the Last Supper, the Crowning with Thorns, the Death of Jesus, the Descent from the Throne and the Resurrection and Ascension were vividly portrayed. The rendition of "Palm Branches" on voices, added to the interest.

It was a pretty sight to see the continual cluster of people in front of a Broadway window opposite Union square, for the window contained the portrait of the "good gray poet," the late Walt passed on, nodding approvingly.

GRANITE TROUBLES.

The Situation Here and Elsewhere. Little Change.

There is little or no change in the labor situation in this city, and everybody is anxiously waiting for Saturday night and subsequent developments. No settlement is expected before May 14, and it is intimated that it will be a long time after ward. The situation is certainly serious for everyone, the mannfacturers, the workers and the local business interests.

The Situation at Barre.

A dispatch to the Daily Advertiser from Barre, says, "A letter received from J. B. Dyer, national secretary of the Granite Cutters Union, today, says that the report that dealers in Monson, Milford, Millstone Point, Sunapee, Fitzwilliam and Haverhill had signed the cutters' bill of prices, is true. And the Creation of New Bishops Discussed by the Methodists.

OMAHA, May 12. - In the Methodist Episcopal general conference the rules were suspended to hear a report from the committee on the centennial of the general conference of the Methodist church. The re port recommended that a special service be held on the evening of May 17 as a cen-tennial service. The report was adopted. Dr. E. J. Gray introduced a resolution to change the rules so as to give the different boards authority to elect the official editors, secretaries of the auxiliary de-partment, and other officers usually elected by the general conference. Referred to the committee on temporal economy. Dr. Gray also introduced a resolution a resolution to have a capable committee appointed to revise the opening chapter of the discipline which treats of the origin and history of the church. Referred to the committee on revision of the discipline.

The whole subject was finally put over until today and the conference adjourned.

Necessity.

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessitylpay well or the luxury costly.

Why Many Treatments Fail. "The fault is not of the art, but of the patient," is the phrase that may be applied to those diseases in which the most correct measures taken under favorable circumstances fail to accomplish their purpose, because the patient himself does not or cannot co-operate with them. No treatment can relieve the smoker from his throat catarrh, so long as he persists in his habit.

This aspect of the case is especially pertinent to the nervous disorders which are one of the growing scourges of our age. Of Inhalation has only begun to be appreciated by the world, and now AERATED OXYGEN furnishes the true and only illustration of the process by which such worderful cures are being wrought. By this perfeetly natural process the respiration tract is reached to its last cell. Intensified Oxygen goes straight to where the disease is located and roots it out. It is a cure that is s rictly logical, because natural. The healing balsam of its vapor bathes the diseased localities with its soothing and reviving influence. The living germs that create the poison are forced to wither and die. After that they are swept out of the system, and a condition of health ensues. Color comes back to the blood and vigor to the nerves. The improvement becomes a transformation. Nature now is free to put in her finest work. She invigorates with a new life what was just now a waste caused by deadly germs. La Crippe, Catarrh, Consumption, Asthma. # PROFIT SHARING

NORFOLK DOWNS.

DO YOU APPRECIATE that we are to turn over to first buyers practically the entire profits of the first 60 days' sales?

DO YOU APPRECIATE that if you buy NOW you come in for a pro rata share of that profit?

That's what our $10,000 offer means—such proportion of $10,000 as your purchase bears to the total sales during this period is to be rebated to you, and the time is fast slipping away-why don't you

This would be no inducement at all to buy at a poor, good-fornothing place-of course not. But at a first-class A Number I suburb, like Norfolk Downs-beautiful in itself, with a railway station of its own, electric road and lights, and every conceivable improvement-in fact, a perfect place for an all-the-year-round home-isn't it something of an inducement?

Why don't you DO something about it?-YOU, Reader.

-NOTICE. -

Lots on the IOc. block at the left of Billings Road are probably the best value of any on the property, and they are naturally going fastest. Like the block which we advertised last week, they will soon be gone. They contain about 5000 feet, are sold on four years' time, and, without question, are the best lots for the price in the vicinity of Boston. With our improvements, every one of them is worth 20c. a foot, and we can sell for a short time at half that sum simply because we bought when the property was 3-4 of a mile from a railroad

N. B. In the block east of Billings Road and south of Beach Street there remain only 16 or 18 lots, and these will be sold in the future at 15c.

PITTSBURG, May 12.—This was another cold, raw day, with occasional rain. Those old chums, Galvin and Staley, were pitted against each other, and the latter made the best showing by long odds. Galvin was batted hard, yet the Boston men made but a few runs. They made three hits and gained a base on an error in the seventh inning, and yet did not score; and in the eighth with two out and a single and a double, failed to send in a run. Base running and flelding was exceedingly difficult, owing to muddy grounds, but for all that, Duffey, McCarthy, Miller and Corkhill made some fine running catches.

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessity pay well or the luxury costly.

It is bad to rashly judge, but one's private opinion is that the aforesaid Evelena ad her chunk of beef in the pantry. Why did Evelena spend all day in a ose garden? Was she supposed to be tudying the beauties of nature, or had the old man really sent her out to spray the bugs off the bushes? Another weakness of Evelena's was her relapsing on all occasions into "floods of emotions" and "tears of sweet sensibility." In fact, one is tempted to believe that she wandered about clothed in "her regal beauty" and an old pale green calico wrapper. But one fails to

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessity pay well or the luxury costly.

POLITICAL FIGURING.

The Conclusions Arrived at by Harrison's Friends.

NEW YORK ROW SETTLED,

Don Dickinson Says Cleveland Will Be Nominated on the First Ballot-Silver Talk Gives Sherman Stock a Boom in Washington but It Doesn't Last Long.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—A conference of the close friends of the president was held, which included a number of high officials, Coram's Periodical Store, Copeland Street, at which the political situation was carefully considered, and an analysis given to BREWER'S CORNER—Miss Bartlett's put forward. The result of this conference, they claim, shows that the president WOLLASTON—Depot and C. F. Wilde's has strength enough to secure his renomination on the first ballot. Some days ago a summary of the delegates was pre-their standpoint. It gives the president 416 votes on the first ballot, which they claim are absolutely instructed for him, as follows: Alabama 22, Arkansas 16, California 2, Florida 8, Illinois 44, Indiana 30, Kansas 8, Kentucky 26, Louisiana 16, Maryland 16, Michigan 4, Minnesota 2, Mississippi 18, Missouri 30, Nebraska 16, New York 26, North Carolina 12, Ohio 6, Pennsylvania 2, South Carolina 18, North Dakota 8, Tennessee 20, Texas 30, Virginia 14, West Virginia 12 and Wisconsin 10.

The president's friends, in their calculations, suggest the possibility of nominating him without the aid of New York or Pennsylvania. This is regarded here as one of the most interesting developments of a most interesting campaign and shows the complete confidence felt by his friends in the present situation. In thus endeavoring to prove that the renomination of the president is a foregone conclusion, his friends assert that they do not rely entirely upon the figures presented with so much detail. They are encouraged by what they claim is the ina-Wise and Otherwise.

A barefaced robbery is frequently combefore him for signature. The story was denied by the senators from these states. Senator Teller said it was all nonsense to talk of the silver men uniting on Sherman; they had no such plan. In reply to Answers to puzzles published during a question whether he could name the choice of the silver men for president, Mr. Teller said: "No, I cannot, for collectively they have no choice. They have their individual preferences, of course, but they are not for Sherman. We want a president who will not veto a silver bill if con-candidate. Mr. Townsend said Sherman would not be acceptable to him as a candidate. "As for the others," he said, "I cannot speak. I am not prepared to say anything regarding the probable effect.

But now his purposes all looked poor and mean and sordid. He had lost his only love long years ago. Had fiercely denounced her because he believed she had swallowed the evil reports of his enemies, and the good that was possible to him had turned to bitterness, the wound in his nature had gathered gangrene and proud flesh.

But these hours had brought Vinie back to him. She seemed to have come from the pale shades of the other world, after their long separation, and to be standing there in the room with her gentle, beseeching face. He could think of nothing but Vinie, and her presence and nearness seemed to wrap him around in a soft atmosphere of forgiveness and reconciliation. He remembered her as she was when a girl, among the morning glories and tall hollyhocks of the old Mayhew garden, with the tender rose and snow of her pure skin, and the sun shining on her dark curls. He remembered all her little movements, her smallest words, the glances, half playful half loving, she had given him, the blush that came so readily to her cheek when he appeared.

Whether any other baking powder is equal to "Royal," let the official reports decide. When the different powders were purchased on the open market and examined by Prof. Chandler, of the New-York Board of Health, the result showed that Royal Baking Powder contained twenty-seven per cent. greater strength than any other brand.

When compared in money value, this difference would be as follows:

If one pound of Royal Baking Powder sells for 50 cents,

One pound of no other powder is worth over

If another baking powder is forced upon you by the grocer in place of the Royal, see that you are charged the correspondingly lower price.

His death was very unexpected and a great shock to those who knew him, as he had been always regarded as a man of strong, vigorous constitution, and had been uniformly well and energetic for a person of his age. The only persons present at his bedside when he died were his sister-in-law, Miss Dangerfield, Colonel Shepard of Virginia, a guest at the house, and the domestics. The doctor, who had been hastily summoned when the senator first aroused the household and told them of his sickness, arrived just after dissolution. The sena-tor had retired Friday night as well as

In view of these considerations, it seems that the unsatisfactory and anamalous relations which now exist might be corrected by an immigration reciprocity treatly fixing the number of the citizens of each state to be admitted to reside in the other. Undoubtedly, difficulties would attend the settlement of the imbrogitio on these lines, but the settlement of the imbrogitio on these lines, but the statesman, ship of the two countries is not likely to find them insurmountable. CONTRACT LABOR.

Government Employes Mixed Up in a Law-Breaking Scheme.

NEW YORK, May 16.—Over 200 steerage passengers on the steamer La Gascogne have been detained on suspicion of being contract laborers. It is alleged that a number of government employes at Ellis island, together with employes of the various steamship lines, are working in collusion to defeat the operations of the contract labor law. "We have begun an investigation," said Assistant Superintendent of Immigration Obeirne, "which may end in the dismissal of some of the government employes. It has been learned that there is an organized system of diverting immigration to certain localities where laborers are needed, and that the parties engaged in the business are receiving a commission for sending immigrants to those places.

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessity pay well or the luxury costly.

A Strange Reunion.

A strange reunion took place at the Dunning Insane asylum Thursday afternoon, an error on the part of a criminal court bailiff leading to the meeting of husband and wife, who thought each other dead.

George and Lena Hillman lived happily at Oak Park. One night, not so long ago, George did not come home at his usual hour, and his wife started to Austin & Winslow's express office, 52 look for him. He returned home and then went out on a hunt for her. While she was wandering around the police picked her up, and after a short stay at the Detention hospital she was sent to McGovern Bros.' A POINT SERENADE.

Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Baxter the Sur prised Couple-A Grand Time.

For years it was the custom of the young men at Quincy Point, when any of their neighbors left the ranks of the bachelors and put on the matrimonial garment, to celebrate the event in some fitting manner. Custom makes laws, and there is, therefore, a well established law in this part of the city, to which is fixed a heavy penalty, which says that when a man gets married he must be serenaded, and when the Point oys serenade they do it in shape. Mr. Jonathan Baxter, having recently taken unto himself one of the fair daughters of Newton, the boys must serenade F. Kane, to sell fireworks. him, and Monday night was the time fixed

At eight o'clock a crowd of a hundred or more, who had gathered in front of C. H. Johnson's store on Washington street, formed themselves into a line, and headed mittee on State Aid. by the German band and the Sons of For Boston at 7.30, 9.30 A. M. 12.30, 4.45, 5.45, Veterans' drum corps, who made their first appearance on this occasion, marched past the house to River street, where the procession countermarched and on the reup to the open door, where he and his bride received his many friends. Charles H. Johnson, of People's Market fame, did the honors as master of ceremonies. The presentation over and the ladies seated in the house, the band and drum corps gave an open air concert of half an hour's duration, their selections being interspersed with vocal solos by Signor popular airs. While the concert was taking place, the ommittee were busy in the carriage house, in the rear of the People's Market, arranging tables, and upon the arrival of Caterer A. M., 12.30 (business section), and 3.45 P. M. Mr. Johnson called the assemblage to order and in a semi-humorous speech present- a suspension of the rules the order was Mr. and Mrs. Baxter with a handsome Commissioner Ewell said no more streets could be watered with an appropriation of Those streets were equipped with standpipes, where many more would be needed should streets not heretofore watered be added.

Councilman Holden was opposed to adding streets without increasing the amount. That was what killed the other order. Councilman Warner thought Adams street could well be dropped. It was to be rebuilt this year and during that time the Commissioner would water. Councilman Holt moved to strike out Adams street and add to Hancock street. Councilman Fallon hoped Adams street would not be dropped and moved to add Granite from Copeland to School, and

School to Franklin. The motions were declared out of order, Councilman Bryant moved that the committee report the following order: ORDERED,—That the $1,000 appro-oriated for watering streets, and $1700 additional, together with $2700 to be assessed upon the estates as here in after Godfrey Comes Out the Victor in the Fight with Lannon.

NEW YORK, May 17.—The large crowd that was looked for to attend the boxing contest between George Godfrey and Joe Lannon at the Coney Island Athletic club did not turn out. The small attendance was attributed to Longstreet's failure to win the Brooklyn handicap, on the theory that the patrons of boxing are big betters, and the big betters were generally | hard and running bases in great style. backers of the favorite that did not win the horse race. The crowd that did assemble were of the enthusiastic kind, and they were Lannon champions as a rule. The men who put out money on the result of the fight, however, were rather in Godfrey's favor. The colored boxer ruled the odds at 100 to 85 just before the time of entering the ring, although the price fluctuated considerably. The men were both in good condition. Godfrey gave his weight as 175 pounds, and Lannon his at 185. Lannon looked stout for his announced weight. Godfrey was apparently in his best shape.

Necessity.

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessityipay well or the luxury costly.

Which we announced last week as probably the best value of any on the property, and consequently as selling fastest, are going so rapidly that we shall be obliged either to take a portion of them off sale for the present, or to raise the price.

The advance declared a week ago on 15-cent lots was made just in time -all were sold this week at the raised price, not one remaining today.

It will undoubtedly be the same with the 10-cent block referred to today. Within two weeks a large part of it will be advanced to 121-2 cents. We leave the matter in your hands.

THREE REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD

Because early purchase will guarantee you a very material rebate upon the final cost of your

You understand this proposition: Such proportion of $10,000 as your purchase bears to amount sold the first 60 days we shall credit you with-not to effect the rate of your payments, but to lessen the time and amount of your indebted-

We practically make all first buyers participants in the division of our first profits—each to receive a pro rata share. Whatever may be sold, your purchase will be very materially affected by this offer. Is not this worth considering?

SECOND-

Because if you are intending to build before long, you have, by starting in soon, an opportunity of securing the $300 prize which we shall give to the first 50 persons building (without assistance from us) a house of not less than $1500 value by Jan. 1, '93.

Also of receiving your railway tickets free for one year if you occupy your house by that date.

And you will appreciate that there is not much time to lose if your house is to be substantially constructed, ready for occupancy in seven or eight months.

THIRD-

Because, in the matter of choice of selection, the adage, "there's no time like the present," is especially applicable.

Corner lots, for instance, are always among the first taken, and are consequently soon all out of the market. The longer one waits, the poorer his chances of getting inst what he wants-even in so large a property as Norfolk Downs. A look at the "marked off" plan in our office will forcibly impress this fact.

And as for prices-the same lot a few weeks later will cost you $200 or $300 more than today. Thus he who waits can but suffer

THE DEAD SPARROW.

Mortals, and immortals, too, I have shocking news for you, Tidings that will harrow Every sympathetic breast; Gone to its eternal rest Is the bird my girl caressed— Dead is Lesbia's sparrow!

It knew Lesbia quite as well
As did Lesbia herself
Know her good old mother;
Grateful to the doting maid,
From whose reach it seldom strayed, It was wont to serenade Lesbia, and none other.

Victim to Plutonian wrath, Now it hops along the path
Downward, dark and narrow;
Maledictions on thy head, Orcus! See how tearful red
Are the beauteous eyes that shed
Oceans for that sparrow!

AERATED OXYCEN furnishes the true and only illustration of the process by which such wooderful cures are being wrought. By this perfeetly natural process the respiration tract is reached to its last cell. Intensified Oxygen goes straight to where the disease is located and roots it out. It is a cure that is s rietly logical, because natural. The healing balsom of its vapor bathes the diseased localities with its soothing and reviving influence. The living germs that create the poison are forced to wither and die. After that they are swept out of the system, and a condition of health ensues. Color comes back to the blood and vigor to the nerves. The improvement becomes a transformation. Nature now is free to put in her finest work. She invigorates with a new life what was just now a waste caused by deadly germs. La Crippe, Catarrh, Consumption, Asth-

NOTICE! THE 10-CENT LOTS

NORFOLK DOWNS.

Which we announced last week as probably the best value of any on the property, and consequently as selling fastest, are going so rapidly that we shall be obliged either to take a portion of them off sale for the present, or to raise the price.

The advance declared a week ago on 15-cent lots was made just in time -all were sold this week at the raised price, not one remaining today.

It will undoubtedly be the same with the 10-cent block referred to today. Within two weeks a large part of it will be advanced to 12 1-2 cents. We leave the matter in your hands.

REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD

Because early purchase will guarantee you a very material rebate upon the final cost of your

You understand this proposition: Such proportion of $10,000 as your purchase bears to amount sold the first 60 days we shall credit you with-not to effect the rate of your payments, but to lessen the time and amount of your indebted-

We practically make all first buyers participants in the division of our first profits-each to receive a pro rata share. Whatever may be sold, your purchase will be very materially affected by this offer. Is not this worth considering?

SECOND-

Because if you are intending to build before long, you have, by starting in soon, an opportunity of securing the $300 prize which we shall give to the first 50 persons building (without assistance from us) a house of not less than $1500 value by Jan. 1, '93.

Also of receiving your railway tickets free for one year if you occupy your house by that date.

And you will appreciate that there is not much time to lose if your house is to be substantially constructed, ready for occupancy in seven or eight months.

THIRD-

Because, in the matter of choice of selection, the adage, "there's no time like the present," is especially applicable.

Corner lots, for instance, are always among the first taken, and are consequently soon all out of the market. The longer one waits, the poorer his chances of getting just what he wants-even in so large a property as Norfolk Downs. A look at the "marked off" plan in our office will forcibly impress this fact.

And as for prices-the same lot a few weeks later will cost you $200 or $300 more than today. Thus he who waits can but suffer

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessity pay well or the luxury costly.

[QUARTERLY TEMPERANCE LESSON.]

8. "But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's meat, nor with the wine which he drank." This portion of the first verse of our lesson is the Golden Text for space to it. We see Daniel, one of a company of young Jews, carried captive in the third year of Jehoiakim, in the palace of the king of Babylon, in training to stand in due time before the king as one of his wise men. While being taught the wisdom of the Chaldeans they are to be nour ished with food and wine from the king's table. Daniel determines that he and his companions will not defile themselves with ever is not offered to Him is offered to devils (Lev. xvii, 7; Deut. xxxii, 17; I Cor. x, 20). It was an afternoon of surprises. The first occurred in the 220-yard dash, when Swayne of Yale defeated Allen. The second was in the 440-yard dash, when Sanford, the Yale giant center rush, developed a magnificent burst of speed and fagged the Harvard runner completely out before the home stretch was reached, securing first place for the Blue, while only third had been expected. Yale's adversities began in the half-mile run when W. B. Wright, the intercollegiate champion and captain of the Yale team, was poorly coached on the first lan and lost first place to Corbin, who spurted vigorously during the last hundred yards and won with ease. Scoville of Yale ran the best mile race of his life, but Lowell of Harvard overtook him at the last turn and crowded him back. Collamore of Harvard was close behind Lowell. Still-man and Lyman of Yale exceeded expec-tations in throwing the hammer and putting the shot, both men winning first place instead of second, which Yale men and 10 thirds; while Yale secured 7 firsts, 6 seconds and 4 thirds. Yale made the most creditable showing on the track and Harvard appeared to the best advantage in the field events.

Yale failed to score a point in the mile walk and the running high jump. Wright, the best Yale walker, fainted dead away on the third lap in the former event. Had he kept on he would have probably secured third place at least. The Davis brothers of Harvard attempted their wade, Yale's best man, to collide with Elliott, by crowding him from the pole. Wade shot from the combination like a flash, just as it was closing in about him. Allen and Elliott collided in the trial bicycle race. Attention has frequently been called to this matter but seemingly without any good result, for the nuisance still exists. Evening after evening, Sunday after Sunday, in all kinds of weather, these loafers gather at perseverance worthy of a better object. They seem to me to be mostly brainless young men who wish to be considered fast. They discuss the latest prize fight, and quote freely from that very moral and inellectual so-called sporting paper, The Poice Gazette. One of the most prominent places where these objectionable characters gather is near the city drug store, and it is simply disgraceful, the manner in which they make remarks upon those who pass by, New York, South and West, direct, 7.30 particularly ladies. I should like to know what is the use of the police that they do it would certainly be a great invention, New York, South and West, via Boston not make those fellows move on? While prospecting at Creede, Colonel J. J. Dore unearthed the body of a petrified man. A rainstorm had washed away the dirt, leaving the feet exposed. The petrifaction weighed 400 pounds. The body is about six feet long, and in life would probably weigh 160 or 170 pounds. The hands are crossed on the breast and the lower limbs straightened out. The top of the head has the appearance of having been scalped, and there is on the surface what appears to be a wound caused by some heavy blunt instrument, and from which the brains of the man oozed out.

The throat is cut, a heavy gash extending clear across and close up under the chin. There is also a gash about an inch long on the right wrist. The hands are perfect. A Necessity.

ADAMS BUILDING, -

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessity pay well or the luxury costly.

AN ALLEGED FLAW FOUND

Boston, May 23.—A special to The Herald from Concord, N. H., says: It is now an assured fact that the case of Abbott, alias Almy, the Hanover murderer, is to again engage public attention. According ald reporter from legal circles in Grafton county, it will be through further judicial rors at critical points did the business. proceedings in his behalf, the necessary preliminary steps toward which have already been taken.

(foriented). Second galactic Cleveland, 1.

At Chicago—Chicago, 1; Pittsburg, 0.

This question will have no reference to the guilt or innocence of the prisoner, will not deal with matters of new testimony, nor raise an issue as to the legality of a sentence announced when the respondent was absent from the court room. It will seek to establish the fact of the unconstitutionality of the trial in which Almy was adjudged guilty, and furnish grounds for a demand that not only shall his life not pay the forfeit of his crime, but that the prison doors shall be open and

Permit His Return to Freedom. Some days before the court at which the prisoner was to be tried convened at Plymouth, the counsel for the defense informed one of the justices of the supreme court that the prisoner had decided to enter a plea of guilty, and thereupon the the jurymen who had been drawn were officially informed that they were excused from appearance at the trial on the day on which they had been summoned to be

When Almy's case was called Chief Justice Doe and Associate Justice Allen were upon the bench. The trial was begun and continued to its close as if a jury was present. Almy pleaded guilty to the indictment, which was murder in the first legree, and in the course of evidence, he told the story of the tragedy. The arguments were made, and when finished the court took the usual recess for dinner. During that recess Almy was sent to prison, and the sentence of death was later announced when he was on his way

In its proceedings the court acted under section 3 of chapter 278 of the general statutes, which says: "If a person shall plead guilty to an indictment for murder, the court having cognizance of the offense shall determine the degree.

So far as statutory provisions were concerned, the proceeding of the court in the matter of trial was legal and proper, any such law as that quoted which bear upon the subject, read as fol

No subject shall be deprived of his life but by judgment of his peers or the law of the land. No subject shall be liable to be tried after an equittal for the same crime or offense; no shall the legislature make any law that shall subject any person to a capital punishment (excepting for the government of the army and navy and the militia in actual service) without trial by jury.

The language quoted is nowhere changed or qualified by other articles in the constitution, and, as has been argued, it would seem that as the legislature is without power to enact a law modifying or condicting with the organic laws, it seem clear enough that, after sitting as a jury in a capital case, the court is without power to mpose the sentence of death upon a pris-

That the question of the constitutionality of the law, if it should be formally raised, would offer an avenue of escape from punishment for Almy was a convic tion expressed by many of the ablest law-yers of the state, and the prediction made in The Herald at the time of the rehearmanner of trial on the Ground of Unconstitutionality, and the transfer of the case from the trial term of the June law term has been granted by the court. When it is heard, as it undoubtedly will be by argument, neither Chief Justice Doe nor Justice Allen will sit, as they constituted the court before whom the trial was had, and the law prohibits justices from sitting at the law term upon a case in which they sat as trial justices.

The sitation created by the raising of the question described, while being one in which great public and professional interest will center, will, nevertheless, be one of most embarrassing conditions. The ssue will be directly as to whether Almy shall be given his liberty or whether he shall be subjected to another trial, and this will depend upon the interpretation given to another

Scrofula.

Symptoms. - This disease has many forms; such as, painful sores, unsightly eruptions, cancerous humors, swelling of the glands, particularly of the neck, hard kernels about the neck (these are felt under the skin for months before soreness is experienced), diseases of the eyes, nose, ears, lungs, hips, and spine, erysipelas, running sores, abscesses, etc.

Scrofula is the most terrible of all blood diseases. The fact that this most virulent poison should exist in the blood should cause great alarm; and when the appetite fails, or pain in the back, boils, pimples, or any of the above symptoms appear, the use of some powerful alterative and purifier should at once be commenced. Nature must be assisted to throw off the poisons, and nothing can assist Nature so effectually as Nature's own productions, and for this purpose she has given us, through the Kickapoo Indians, the greatest of all blood purifiers

Heartless Russian Judge Gets a Light

"Sentence" for Awful Cruelties. St. Petersburg, May 23.—Judge Koehlbrandt of Wenden has been fined 200 roubles and removed from office for abusing his power. Among the enormities proven against the judge was that he caused nine men and women, accused of trivial offenses, to be flogged with switches until the blood flowed from their bodies Austin & Winslow's express office, 52 in streams. Another case was that of an alleged thief, who received thirty strokes Souther's Periodical Store, 1 Granite of the lash in the judge's kitchen, and still refusing to confess, was given thirty more. The man, against whom nothing had been proven, never fully recovered from his injuries. A peasant who failed to pay his WEST QUINCY-Post Office, Crescent rent was given twenty strokes.

A powerfully built soldier, who had been sentenced to receive thirty lashes for Coram's Periodical Store, Copeland Street, some offenses, attacked the floggers and vanquished them. think of hanging it upon the hook until the loop was mended.' All this I recalled as I sat there, and also what my friend said about her husband when I had remarked that I had never seen a gentlemen who seemed to make so little trouble about the house.

"He was a surprise to me in that respect," said Mrs. Van Dyke. "I told him soor, after we were married that I had been accustomed to see men leave everything about for some one to pick ly about, and when he had tossed up his bureau drawers his mother, without a word, came and regulated them, and he concluded one day that he was somewhat better able to do all this than his mother, and from that time on he made her no trouble in such ways. And of course Mr. Van Dyke has been a great help to me in the training of our children.' One of the pleasantest memories of the visit was then recalled, that of the children's hour, which Longfellow has immortalized in that sweet poem, beginning:

Between the dark and the daylight, When the night is beginning to lower, Comes a pause in the day's occupation Which is known as the children's hour.

How beautiful it was to see that that I drew up my comfortable chair mother gather her little flock about her and tell them a good story, or read to efore a cheerful blaze in my simply them, or recite some pretty poems, and hished, pleasant library, and with talk with them about their lessons, and head resting on the pillow of the after dinner play a few merry games chair fell to meditating. That, she said, the light sentence imposed, and the miscar question why it was that I had enjoyed was one of her precious half hours which

> I could not but contrast with all these sweet memories my visit at Mrs. Barstow's. While she was as attractive and Ended by a Man Shooting His Wife and hospitable, and I had looked forward for intelligent and more witty than Mrs. Van Dyke, she had no repose of manner, no faculty in keeping things in order, no quiet control over her children and much less enjoyment with them. There was continual friction in her household, and while there was no lack of love and confidence there was a lack of unity, and consequently continual conflict.

Two or three children were frequently late to breakfast, morning prayers were often omitted because all the family were late, at school time books could not be found, and shoe buttons and mittens were missing, and there was a general scurry and commotion until the children, with hurried and often reproving words, were started for school. Then Mrs. Barstow had many little things to do which the children should have done, for the entire house was in confusion. This hindered the mother from attending to her own duties at the proper time, and throughout the household this lack of promptness and order was felt, and much which otherwise would have been easy to accomplish was made difficult.

To Mrs. Barstow, therefore, it seemed a great undertaking to give a dinner party. Then, too, she attempted an elaborate affair with seven or eight courses, with decorated menus and much expense, a dinner that required

It was seldom that the evening hour was a happy or restful one, for the mother, worn and weary with the many perplexities and cares of the day, was too often unable to be merry with or attentive to her children. Their voices and their noise disturbed her and the mother's fretted spirit was contagious. The little ones were hurried off to bed with an uninterested nurse, and Mrs. Barstow's sigh of relief was significant. When I left one home with reluctance, where the order, the repose, the easy hospitality had cheered and delighted me, I was ready to leave the other, where even my own spirit became fretted before the day set for my departure. In the quiet of my own home, and by that cheery blaze in the twilight hour, I said aloud: "And all this difference which made one home so delightful to visit and the other so much less agree able, can be accounted for by the order and promptness and harmony in the one, and the disorder and dilatoriness and friction in the other. The good cheer of it in the other; the time which the parents devoted to their children in the one home, the absence of such devotion in the other; the happy, peaceful spirits in the one, the fretted spirits in the derly. By this perfectly natural process the respiration tract is reached to its last cell. Intensified Oxygen goes straight to where the disease is located and roots it out. It is a cure that is s rietly logical, because natural. The healing balsam of its vapor bathes the diseased localities with its soothing and reviving influence. The living germs that create the poison are forced to wither and die. After that they are swept out of the system, and a condition of health ensues. Color comes back to the blood and vigor to the nerves. The improvement becomes a transformation. Nature now is free to put in her finest work. She invigorates with a new life what was just now a waste caused by deadly germs. La Crippe, Catarrh, Consumption, Asthma. PAUL REVERE POST 88, G. A. R.

DEPARTMENT OF MASSACHUSETTS.

QUINCY, May, 1892.

General Order No. 1.

A year has rolled around and we stand on the eve of another Memorial day. A day so full of tender memories; the day set apart to commemorate the value of our fallen comrades. Though being dead, yet they speak to us in tones easy to understand. As we assemble on that day let us lay aside our daily tasks and pleasures, and with hearts full of love and tenderness perform the solemn duties of the day in a becoming manner.

On Sunday, May 29, the Post will assemble at Headquarters, at 10 A. M. sharp, for the purpose of attending services at the Universalist church. They will then assemble at Headquarters at 6.45 P. M., when the Post will proceed to the Congregational church, where a memorial address will be delivered by Mr. H. W. Lull.

Veterans, old soldiers and sailors of the late war and the public are cordially invited to be in the interest of the citizens and tax-

My Dear Mr. Morse: I am very sorry indeed that your health compels you to leave the public service. I hope it may be speedily and thoroughly restored and that you will find either the same or some other field of labor which may be congenial to you in the future. Your service has been very able and faithful. You have grown constantly and rapidly in public esteem, and in the capacity for a large usefulness. I regret very much indeed the severance of our official relations. I hope our personal elations may continue as friendly as hey have been during your brief and valnable connection with national legislation. Wishing you every prosperity in the future, and thanking you for your uniform kindness to me, I am, with the highest regard,

A survivor of the Black Hawk war is still living in Freeport, Ills., in the person of Mrs. William Lawhorn. She is the widow of one of that band of settlers who helped to build the fort on Apple river, which was afterward attacked by the Indians. It was constructed of split logs set on end and making a stockade twelve feet high. The wagons and goods of the settlers' families were taken inside, and there gathered the men, women and children when the news reached them of the advance of Black Hawk and his bloodthirsty warriors. The whites did not have long to wait. Three hundred and fifty braves in full war paint suddenly appeared on the crest of the prairie. Indians were repulsed by the sharp and

The capacity of the human eye for special training is even greater than that of the hand. A young woman employed in one of the clipping bureaus of this city can see certain names and subof newspapers every day. What the ordinary reader would have to read col-up a new matter and drop an old one it bothers me a little—the latter by being in my mental way all the time and the former to be hunted-but in a few days one disappears and the other appears in some mysterious way, I can't tell how. I used to think bank cashiers and tellers were a remarkable set of people, but I now find that the eye is much quicker than the hand and is susceptible of a higher training."-New York Herald.

Hope for the Near Future. It was but the other day that I sat listening to one who, more perhaps than any other, has helped to make the history of the emancipation of American women from the thraldom of old limit tions and old prejudices. She is in the fullness of her saintly years, and it may be she will pass to the high countries before, in this world, she has seen the desire of her heart. Yet her message was altogether and nobly one of hope Its text was, "When we look back on such bygones, what may we not dare to dream the bycomes will be?"

Out, as it seemed, of nothingness through, as it seemed, impenetrable hedges of opposition, had come the trithe old, brave, incredible sayings took new meaning and meant new inspiration, as we listened to that tale that proved them true; and we cried, with Pagan Napoleon, "Time and I against any two!" And we believed, with Christian Gustavus Adolphus, that "One on the side of God is a majority."-Dorothy Lundt in Boston Commonwealth,

The Morality of Factory Women. With reference to moral conditions, I am inclined to think that the popular impression is that, so far as wage workers are concerned, the morals of women are not up to the standard under the old hand system of labor, in which she took little or no part, and that her entrance into the industrial field has lowered her moral standard. I believe this view to be absolutely false, and that the working women of this or any other civilized country are upon as high a plane of purity as any class in the community.

I make this statement upon positive investigations which I have carried as far as it has been possible, but not so far as I hope to carry them, and in whatever direction I have turned my studies of the moral character of women engaged in industry, the result has been Great Britain or upon the continent of Europe.-Carroll D. Wright in Forum.

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessity pay well or the luxury costly.

The Taking of the Tenor.

And the tenor is married! I knew, That brilliant night at the play, That the sweet soprano with eyes of blue Was singing his heart away-

Singing his heart away, Leading his lips astray; The dark of the forest dreamed today-The stage was a meadow, sweet with May; She was singing his heart away—away. Singing his heart away!

She was not singing to you, he was not singing to me: He saw himself in her eyes of blue,

A drowning man in a sea Where drowning is sweet! And she-Oh, she was singing his ship astray; But the beautiful haven landward lay The stage was a meadow, sweet with May, And the birds were singing his heart away-Singing his heart away!

I said when the curtain fell, "Adieu, brave tenor, adieu!
You sang your part and you sang it well, But Love sang sweeter than you!

Love sang sweeter than you-Love, with the eyes of blue; The sweet soprano-she knew, she knew When she was singing of love and May That Love was master and ruled the play, And Love was singing your heart away-Singing your heart away!

Of Inhalation has only begun to be appreciated by the world, and now AERATED OXYCEN furnishes the true and only illustration of the process by which such worderful cures are being wrought. By this perfectly natural process the respiration tract is reached to its last cell. Intensified Oxygen goes straight to where the disease is located and roots it out. It is a cure that is s rictly logical, because natural. The healing balsam of its vapor bathes the diseased localities with its soothing and reviving influence. The living germs that create the poison are forced to wither and die. After that they are swept out of the system, and a condition of health ensues. Color comes back to the blood and vigor to the nerves. The improvement becomes a transformation. Nature now is free to put in her finest work. She invigorates with a new life what was just now a waste caused by deadly germs. La Crippe, Catarrh, Consumption, Asthma. Hay Fever, Coughs and Colds, and, in fact, all diseases of Throat and Lungs, succurib to the marvellous natural potency of AERATED OXYCEN. It is

Symptoms. - This disease has many forms; such as, painful ores, unsightly eruptions, cancerous humors, swelling of the glands, particularly of the neck, hard kernels about the neck (these are felt under the skin for months before soreness is experienced), diseases of the eyes, nose, ears, lungs, hips, and spine, erysipelas, running sores, abscesses, etc.

Scrofula is the most terrible of all blood diseases. The fact that this most virulent poison should exist in the blood should cause great alarm; and when the appetite fails, or pain in the back, boils, pimples, or any of the above symptoms appear, the use of some powerful alterative and purifier should at once be commenced. Nature must be assisted to throw off the poisons, and nothing can assist Nature so effectually as Nature's own productions, and for this purpose she has given us, through the Kickapoo Indians, the greatest of all blood purifiers

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessity pay well or the luxury costly.

Of Inhalation has only begun to be appreciated by the world, and now AERATED OXYCEN furnishes the true and only illustration of the process by which such worderful cures are being wrought. By this perfectly natural process the respiration tract is reached to its last cell. Intensified Oxygen goes straight to where the disease is located and roots it out. It is a cure that is s rictly logical, because natural. The healing balsam of its vapor bathes the diseased localities with its soothing and reviving influence. The living germs that create the poison are forced to wither and die. After that they are swept out of the system, and a condition of health ensues. Color comes back to the blood and vigor to the nerves. The improvement becomes a transformation. Nature now is free to put in her finest work. She invigorates with a new life what was just now a waste caused by dead y germs. La Grippe, Catarrh, Consumption, Asthma. Hay Fever, Coughs and Colds, and, in fact, all di cases of Throat and Lungs, succurre to AERATED OXYCEN. It is he new melicine of nature herself.

When full, the machine is stopped, and from a door in the rear the cotton is removed to a wagon on the pounds of cotton is the amount the aver age picker daily gathers, this machine just picks twenty times as much.

Each cylinder has an independent motion, equal to about one-half a revolution on its own axis, which motion causes the spindles to remain relatively stationary to the plant while picking, and to enter and emerge from the branches with the least possible disturbance, no combing or rakng motion being produced.

A valuable feature is a series of ribs, through which the spindles pass immediately on leaving the plant, while yet loaded with cotton. These ribs serve the purpose of preventing any branches or hulls from being carried through to the brushes, but allow the fibre to pass, and are made of heavy steel wire, twisted with bristles, so as to form what might be termed a large round brush.

Another feature of great value is the trailers. They are attached to the ma-chine on each side at the lowest point and extend inward until they nearly meet, thus forming a carpet under the machine ready to catch any chance drop-pings of cotton, which are at once seized by the spindles and carried upward to the cleaners, which throw it into the cage, thus obviating all loss.

ROGERS BROTHERS,

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessity pay well or the luxury costly.

Mr. Williamson Endorsed.

An interesting letter written by Senator Hoar, during the canvass for the post mastership of Boston has just been made public. It indicates clearly the high esteem in which Senator Hoar held our townsman Mr. E. E. Williamson, of Wollaston. Everybody knows that Mr. Williamson made a vigorous and manly fight, but from the start it was evident that only a Boston man could win. The letter referred to is

House of Representatives, Washington, C.,—My Dear Mr. Morse: I had a full and most satisfactory talk last evening with your friend, Mr. Williamson. I liked him exceedingly. He seems to be a very honest, sincere, modest, and upright man. I have never seen a candidate for office whose personal bearing in regard to the matter impressed me more John O'Keefe, a quarryman, was probably fatally injured at Portland, Conn., a favorably. I have not yet come to a full conclusion in my own mind in this matter; but I am afraid that, in the difficulties that have arisen, Mr. Williamson's chances for the office cannot be regarded as very hopeful. But I should like exceedingly to be instrumental in finding for him some agreeable place in the public service which will mark the public sense of what he has done for the Republican party and for honest politics, and of his worth as a man, I am,—faithfully yours, only intensified their interest in the terrible contest. The Union people were still rejoicing over the victory at Missionary Mrs. Stewart from Nashville. It said: "Your son George, who fell into our nooga, is here and wishes to see you." The widow and Dora knew what that ceived passes and took the cars for Nash-

They found the hospital, and the doctor who had sent the message led them to a cot on which lay a man bronzed and bearded. The bue of death was on the face, and the quick rise and fall of the broad breast told that the end was near.

And George Stewart heard moaning and felt the touch of hot lips on his cold cheeks, and opening his glazing eyes he saw kneeling, on either side of the cot, his mother "God bless you for coming!" he gasped.

He was dead within the hour, and his last words were: "Tell brother I love him-and bless him with my dying breath!"

"GOD BLESS YOU FOR COMING," HE GASPED The body of George Stewart was taken ome, and Union and Confederate neighbors, all whispering praises of his character, bore him up to the west of the slope and laid him beside his father on an elevation that looked down on the queenly Ohio and commanded a view of the purple hills to the south.

Again, after long months of anxiety, September, 1864, came around, and the land was thrilled with the news that, after fierce fighting, Sherman had taken Atlanta. Frank Stewart was in the battle;

Two weeks after this a steamer stopped at the landing. Six men in blue stepped off with a long black box on their sl ders, and twenty more in blue walked be hind with arms reversed, and they marched up to the widow's house with the body of er first born, Frank.

And the neighbors, Confederate and Union, gathered again, and they buried the Union soldier beside his Confederate brother, nor saw any difference in the graves of "the widow's boys."

Vine and wild flower have long since hidden war's red scars on the hills and in the valleys, and the cruel bitterness ha passed or is passing from the hearts of brothers who met in strife.

Scrofula.

Symptoms. - This disease has many forms; such as, painful ores, unsightly eruptions, cancerous humors, swelling of the clauds, particularly of the neck, hard kernels about the neck (these are felt under the skin for months before soreness is experienced, diseases of the eyes, nose, ears, lungs, hips, and spine, erysipelas, running sores, abscesses, etc.

Scrofula is the most terrible of all blood diseases. The fact that this most virulent poison should exist in the blood should cause great alarm; and when the appetite fails, or pain in the back, boils, pimples, or any of the above symptoms appear, the use of some powerful alterative and purifier should at once be commenced. Nature must be assisted to throw off the poisons, and nothing can assist Nature so effectually as Nature's own productions, and for this purpose she has given us, through the Kickapoo Indians, the greatest of all blood purifiers

A Necessity.

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessity pay well or the luxury costly.

THE KING'S DREAM.

LESSON IX, SECOND QUARTER, INTER-NATIONAL SERIES, MAY 29.

Text of the Lesson, Dan. ii, 36-49. Memory Verse, 44-Golden Text, Heb. iv, 13-Commentary by the Rev. D. M.

36. "This is the dream, and we will tell the interpretation thereof before the king." Daniel offered to show the king both the dream and the interpretation if he would give him time. Then Daniel and his companions gave themselves to prayer, and the secret was revealed unto Daniel in a night vision (verses 16-19); after which Daniel stands before the king, and giving all the credit to the God of heaven he tells rapidly in New England. > 38. "And hath made the ruler over them all. Thou art this head of gold." We are reminded of the original dominion given all the earth (Isa. xxxii, 1; I Cor. xv, 45, 25; Zech xiv, 9; Rev. xi, 15). 39. "And after these shall arise another, the earth." One great peculiarity of the kingdoms designated by the metals of this gestion of a physically decadent race, or image is that they were to have dominion over the known world. Their authority was to be world wide. The two world powers to succeed the Babylonian were, vithout a possibility of mistake, the Medo Persian, and then the Grecian. This the Spirit plainly states in chapters v, 28; viii.

40. "And the fourth kingdom shall be strong as iron, forasmuch as iron breaketh in pieces and subdueth all." It is equally clear that the next world wide do after the Grecian was the Roman (Luke ii 1), under whose principles of government all nations may be said to continue. There has been no world wide dominion by any empire since the Roman, nor will there be till the stone kingdom of the Lord Jesus is established on earth.

There will be power mixed up with that which is wholly of man; power in the hands of the people having no internal stability though something is left of the strength of the iron. (Tregelles.) 43. "And whereas thou sawest iron mixed with miry clay, they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men." This seems to refer to Gen. vi, 2, where the marriages of the seed of the godly Seth with the daughters of ungodly Cain are described in similar words. The reference, therefore, seems to be to the blending of the Christianized Roman empire with the pagan nations, a deterioration being the result. BUFFALO, May 27.—W. A. 45. "The great God hath made known to the king what shall come to pass hereafter; and the dream is certain and the interpretation sure." That Christ shall break in pieces the kingdoms of this world when He returns in power and glory is unmis takably clear from such passages as Ps. i what the convention hoped to accomplish.

Memorial Day is, in the strictest sense, national, and the most conducive of all our holidays to preserve our nationality. Its value and its beauty can scarcely be over-estimated. It recalls the patriotic past, trimmed with bunting and flags which and assures the patriotic future. It is evidence of what we have done and promise of what we would do in like emergency. It is at once an example and a warning, a triumph and a consecration. The oftener we celebrate the day, the more important quotations bearing on the day by the and precious it should be. In the next century it should assume a character alnost sacred. We are yet too near the war to perceive its vast proportions and enor-mous consequence. Latterly, too, we commemorate our reconcilation, which, greater than any feat of arms or skill of strategy, attests the advance and superiority of free institutions.

It is hard to conceive a higher moral spectacle than the day exhibits. In the north and in the south, where the Unionists and Confederates are buried, their graves are strewn with flowers alike, and equal honors are paid to their memory. Eulogies are pronounced by northern men on southern soldiers, and by southern mer on northern soldiers. The past, with all its blood and sacrifice, is forgiven, if not forgotten, in a grand spirit of generosity and all embracing patriotism. The heroes of a generation, passive, if not

Important Ruling on a Form of Contract Used by British Steamers. Boston, May 28.-Judge Neison of the Inited States district court rules that the contract used by the British steamship lines in which passenger and patron agree that the steamship company shall not be of negligence on the part of the company's officers or servants, are against public policy, and to all intents and purposes worthless. The decision is in the case of Albert N. Munroe, who had shipped on The new steame the steamer Iowa of the Warren line, a lot of cattle, 232 head in all, April 12, 1887. When at sea the Iowa encountered a gale | yard at Rockland, Me. of such severity that the pens in which the cattle were kept gave way and many of the cattle were killed and others so badly injured that they had to be slaughtered.

Mr. Munroe claimed damages, but the company refused to pay, claiming that they were exempt by the terms of a special contract and by the bill of lading. The special contract provides that all ques tions arising under any contract should be decided according to British law.

The decision may be of additional importance because of the pendency of a number of cases against the Cunard company brought by passengers who lost their effects on the Pavonia several years ago. If the Pavonia's passengers bought return tickets on this side of the Atlantic, they may recover in the suits.

Bishop, Georgie Davis, Luella Hunt, Gladys Mudget, Eddie Marnock, George at the Old Colony newspaper and book A Necessity.

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessity pay well or the luxury costly.

The Argument Used

Y the makers of the second-class baking powders to induce the dealer to push them off on Royal consumers is that they cost less than Royal and afford the dealer much more profit.

But you, madam, are charged the same price for them as for the absolutely pure Royal, which is perfectly combined from the most highly refined and expensive materials. The lower cost of the others is caused by the cheap, impure materials used in them, and the haphazard way in which they are thrown together.

Do you wish to pay the price of the Royal for an inferior baking powder, made from impure goods, of 27 per cent. less strength? If you buy the other powders, insist upon having a corresponding reduction in price.

Memorial Day Generally Observed by Veterans and Citizens.

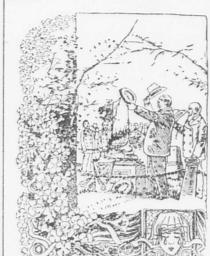

ADDRESS BY MR. H. W. LULL,

Address by Rev. H. A. Philbrook-Exercises at the Soldiers Monument; Address by Mayor Fairbanks.

Many years have passed since those Republic laid down their munitions of war and again took up the neglected pursuits of peaceful life. Yet while that was long ago the memory of those stirring and bloody events which are forgotten during the greater part of the year are brought fresh to mind as Memorial day approaches.

Many of these brave heroes who responded to the call in '61, left their homes and families to meet death in strange land, and to be rudely buried far from loved ones in an unkept and unmarked grave, but their memory will remain green in the hearts of every true and loyal citizen.

Others more fortunate but none the less brave were spared to return, and a few of gregational church. these are with us today, for thousands of these who returned have died a peaceful flowers, the letters G. A. R. in evergreen

Those who still remain with us have a that duty. Thus Memorial day has been set apart and the memory of the days gone will never be forgotten as long as that day and the United States survives.

It is customary with the Post in Quincy as in other places, to give the day to the the enemy in olden days. Yet as they march through the streets with slow and measured tread, one can not help but noticing that their ranks are rapidly growing thinner, each year some familiar face is missed, and the only answer of inquiry of the absent ones whereabouts is he gone.

In a few years at the most the Grand Army will be no more and then the sacred duty which so long has been their work will be devolved upon the Sons of Veterans, an organization formed to perpetuate the we of today might enjoy the blessings of a free and united country.

Marvel Get Legs. The opening and first championship race of the Quincy Yacht club was sailed Saturday off the club house, Houghs Neck, in a light southerly wind.

This was the first race this season in Boston harbor and much interest was in any case for which it's recomthen, he declared, the generations of the manifested, as it was expected there mended, the money paid for it is would be a test of speed between the 21 refunded. footers and fin keels.

The earliness of the season however, found many of the new boats unprepared and R. G. Hunt's new fin keel the Asp, which was expected to enter, did not make ts appearance until long after the start.

There were, however, some of the new boats in the race. Fred Brown in his new Herreshoff boat the Alpha; H. G. Otis, Jr., in his new Cape boat, the Magpie, built by Hanley, and W. H. Shaw in his new boat, Don, built by Smalley. Of the old boats there was the Moon-dyne with A. J. Shaw; the Vision with a new steel centerboard; the Marvel with Secretary Faxon handling the stick; Commodore Shaw in the little Mab; A. W. As a result of the race, the Moondyne gets a leg in the championship cup in the first class; the Alpha in the special; Magpie in the second class, and Marvel in the third, and the Mab a cash prize.

The race was sailed under the new sail area measurement, but owing to the elec trics on the Manet running only once an hour and the accident, the measure ments and the corrected time can not be given but that will not change the result. The judges were George E. Pfaffmann

FORAKER BOBS UP.

Named for Second Place on a Blaine Ticket.

HISCOCK IS FOR HARRISON

And Claims That Most of the New York Delegates Will Vote for the President-Consul General New Thinks the Blaine Boom Will Collapse

WASHINGTON, May 31 .- The Post prints special from Cincinnati, which say Mr. Blaine will adhere to his letter de ciaring that he is not a candidate. He will accept the nomination if it is tendered him with some show of acclaim. His name will not be formally presented to the convention, though he will be balloted for and, if nominated, will accept. This is the information received here by ex-Governor Foraker and the other Blaine leaders in this section. It comes after the various conferences in New York, and the news has been somewhat disappointing, as the following of the plumed knight ex pected to announce that Blaine would be a candidate in the fullest sense of the word, and that it would be a fight to a finish between the Blaine and Harrison of the volumes lost. They were all of extreme rarity and great value. Armed with this list the lawyer called on the and cast their votes for him whether his name is formally presented to the convenname is formally presented to the conven-tion or not. Further than that they will make every effort to secure for him the nomination under the supposition that he cannot afford to refuse an honor which was tendered against his will.

It is argued that his denial means that he will not be a candidate, but he says nothing in it concerning the refusal of an unsolicited honor of that kind. There is also another important movement under way-the nomination of ex-Governor For aker for vice president. This is the newest scheme on foot and it meets with Foraker's approval. General Foraker has already answered that under any and all circumstances he intends voting for Blaine. His colleague as a delegate-atlarge, General Bushnell of Springfield, will do likewise. Blaine men are confidently claiming a majority of the Ohio delegation. They have been setting up the pins and are confident they will make a showing of which they may feel proud. Solid for Harrison.

The Star says Senator Hiscock has re-turned from New York and still pins his faith to President Harrison. "What do you think of the presidential situation now?" the reporter asked. "Mr. Harrison is going to be nominated and elected." "How about the New York delegation?" "Most of them will be for Harrison. have not polled them so as to tell you just how many, but most of them will be for Harrison." A liltle later Mr. Hiscock had a talk with ex-Senator T. C. Platt.

There does not seem to be any more light on the general situation politically. have ourselves. This was followed by There are some who have been expecting Sunday school, where we recited our Mr. Blaine to say something, but, unless bring about his nomination are greatly mistaken, he is not going to make any more statements before the meeting of the convention. The belief that he is going to accept the nomination, if offered to him, interval between this time and 7 o'clock is becoming more general, and men who prayer meeting was occupied with retwo days ago thought the Blaine talk was ligious reading or reflection, no frivolous all hollow, say now that it looks as if he would be nominated.

A Necessity.

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessity pay well or the luxury costly.

THERE IS NO DODGING IT.

The DAILY LEDGER is one of the best mediums for reaching the people of Quincy.

Philadelphia, 7; Louisville, 6. PHILADELPHIA, May 30.—It took twelve innings to decide the morning game etween Philadelphia and Louisville. The visitors opened like winners, knocking out four runs with the aid of a wild throw by Allen. The Phillies bunched five hits off Viau in the seventh and tied the score. From the seventh until the twelfth it was a battle royal, the Phillies ultimately winning on a missed third strike, Thompson's double and Delehanty's single. hiladelphia.0 0 2 0 0 0 4 0 0 0 0 1-7 ouisville....4 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-6 Earned runs—Philadelphia 2, Louisville 2, Base hits—Pailadelphia 13, Louisville 13. A Break Which Contractors Think is

Step in Their Favor. NEW YORK, May 31.—The first break in the strike of the National Paving Cutters' union occurred yesterday. Six pavers, who are members of the union, returned to work. The contractor in charge of the job said that they had come back of their own accord. The men said that they had not received a cent since the strike began, notwithstanding the statement made by the union that the strikers were receiving their regular pay, step toward a complete victory for them. In a few days they think that several hundred of the union pavers will resume work. The non-union men are pushing the work of paving Third avenue rapidly. All of their contractors paving streets in this city resumed work with the nonunion men yesterday.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., May 31.—W. J. Jones, manager of the Sandwich (Ills.) Manufacturing company, who has been under the influence of liquor for several days, with a considerable sum of money on his person, was called from his home just as he had reached there Sunday night, by a message which stated that his presence was required at the Ogden house. That was the last seen of Jones till his body was found yesterday morning in a dark street near the hotel, with a buliet hole in his abdomen and his skull crushed. Hd had a revolver clutched in his hand. A block away, close to a blood-stained hack, the dead body of one Jack Wade was discovered, with a pistol wound in his breast. Wade also had a revolver.
